Skinny Skribbles

Around And About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

I am invited to a political meeting for next Saturday noon when a candidate for a state office will appear to solicit support and give his audience an opportunity to "look him over." I have so far this primary failed to meet a single candidate who has not expressed his relief when the campaign is over. The appeals are so frequent for comfort, and far beyond the value which some people claim they can deliver.

The philosophy of my day has been given a kick in the pants. They used to tell me you couldn't get something for nothing. Now what?

New intersection pedestrian signs have made their appearance in the downtown area, with nicely washed face, and easily read wording, which a lot of autoists will never see.

And then there was the fellow who came into possession of a small coin which magnified itself into many thousands of dollars, because of its scarcity. If that's so I ought to be rich. Coins are mighty scarce with me.

J. K. Evans has been selected to put on a Corrigan special edition for a Long Beach newspaper. The scene is properly laid. All that is needed is the volume of lineal enthusiasm. Everything else is provided for. But John makes no mistake getting to the right city. The commission compass isn't going wrong when the Santa Ana advertising man is a consideration. I've asked for a free copy.

For the first time in many months the best news comes through that industrial are employing more men. Car loadings and re-employment are much more substantial indications than political oratory.

A cook, locked in the refrigerator of a Longview, Wash., cafe, danced for 16 hours to keep from freezing to death. That was a marathon, for which there was a real good reason.

Dr. Murray Patton is not easily discouraged. Notwithstanding reports that man-sized mosquitoes with an ugly disposition infest the high Sierras, he is on his way to challenge their right to keep a good man away from the trout. So for the next few days he will be in the Bishop neighborhood whipping the mountain streams in an attempt to persuade the fish that he is a pretty fair sort of a guy. He didn't tell me though, that he was going to say to em he was from Santa Ana.

"Bill" H. Cornack, vice president of the Los Angeles civil service commission, and a former president, rotated among his Santa Ana friends yesterday. Rotation is becoming a habit. Every one of the five members of the Los Angeles commission is a Santa Ana resident, and next year it will be Cornack's time to take the presiding officer's chair. By the way, the city of supposed angelic contentment is going through the throes of another recall, a useless weapon, and reported to usually by discontented politicians no matter how good the administration. Los Angeles is able to take care of its own politics, but from the best information I can obtain most people seem to be satisfied with the administration of Mayor Shaw. To me a recall is an advertisement of a quarrelsome city, and that isn't the kind which attracts population.

Brief visit to Laguna with Guy Gilbert, one of my few excursions outside the city limits. Mission one of relief, not the government kind, but information which brought comfort to a worried soul. Cursory observation disclosed more bathing girls than business, but perhaps it was the fiesta time of day I made my call. Exchanged felicitations with Dick Bird's dad, the senior "Dick," and he admitted that he had reached that point in the span of life when he enjoyed a brief rest period of about twenty minutes. Sort of acted like a booster station.

Lindbergh is said to be on his way to Russia. So were a lot of Japs but they changed their mind. Then Russia changed her mind, and it's now not only a woman's prerogative to change her mind, but nations as well.

If Roosevelt tries a third term he can test out that old baseball rule—three strikes and out—or in. When my cap wears out I'm going to get myself a handkerchief. These "wimmen" can't have everything their own way. It's time for us brow-beaten down. (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3)

Franco Spurs British Plans

Withdrawal of Foreign Troops From Spain Reported Rejected

LONDON. (AP)—Diplomatic quarters today feared the Spanish Insurgents had given a virtual "no" to the British plan for withdrawing foreign fighters from the Spanish civil war. One source described the insurgent reply to Britain's proposal for proportional withdrawals from each warring side as "more than fifty per cent negative," but officials withheld the content of Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco's communication.

The reply was handed Sir Robert M. Hodgson, Britain's agent at Burgos, seat of the insurgent regime. The Spanish government at Barcelona accepted the proposal July 23. British and French authorities were perturbed over probable unfavorable effects of such an insurgent attitude on efforts of the two nations to achieve working friendship pacts with Italy, Franco's principal foreign backer.

HEAT WAVE IN EAST LESSENS BUT SLIGHTLY

By the Associated Press

The heat wave that has taken a heavy toll and brought discomfort to millions abated slightly today, and the prospect of scattered showers augured relief for part of the sun-baked Eastern seaboard.

In Pennsylvania, nine deaths resulted from the weather in the last twelve days; Washington, D. C., had 18 hospitalized prostrations yesterday, and dozens of others were given first aid by ambulance crews; Baltimore counted six prostrations; but the sweltering heat also had some whimsical aspects.

Weather bureau employees in Washington had a partial holiday yesterday because of the weather—along with thousands of government clerks.

As the mercury soared to 94 in Pittsburgh—the highest for Aug. 16 since 1888, Rufus Middlebrook reported to police the theft of a fur-lined jacket from his home.

The city water division of Newark complained that 15,000,000 gallons of water were being wasted daily by boys who turned hydrants to keep cool. The drain, the division said, was threatening water pressure.

A short circuit apparently caused by the heat set off a burglar alarm in New York and caused six police radio cars to rush out on a futile mission.

High humidity added to the nation's discomfort. In the South the heat wave entered its fourth day with temperatures only slightly lower.

It was cooler in the Middle West and the Great Lakes region, with scattered rain.

Auto Inventories Now at Low Point

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Reduced automobile inventories "provide a sound basis for increased production," Secretary Roper suggested today.

He said that industrial reports indicating a decrease of 60,000 in the number of automobiles on dealers' floors during July, and a prospective decrease of 80,000 in August, would bring the average number of cars on hand to less than four cars per dealer, the lowest inventory position since 1934.

Bay Man Dies on Top of Power Pole

OAKLAND. (AP)—One man met flaming death atop a high-tension pole here today and another was burned severely in futile rescue attempts.

The victim was Robert J. "Red" Vaughn, 37, electrical worker. The accident happened when Vaughn climbed a pole on which the power had not been shut off.

Canadian National Train Is Wrecked

MONTREAL. (Canadian Press)—Officials of Canadian National Railways announced today that "eight or nine" cars of the Ocean Limited had been derailed 20 miles east of Levis, Quebec, but said "only a few passengers were slightly injured."

Minister's Sight Restored

His vision partially restored by an operation during which the cornea of a dead woman's eye was transferred to his, the Rev. U. E. Harding, former Santa Ana Nazarene minister, blinded for 43 of his 53 years, today patiently awaited his first clear look at his wife and daughter following his release from a San Francisco hospital. Bandages, which will cover his eye for several weeks, prevent him from seeing his wife, with whom he is shown.

'Check Lawlessness' Plea Wins Support

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Secretary Hull's appeal to the world to "turn the tide of lawlessness" through economic and moral reconstruction aroused enthusiasm today among British and French officials, worried over recurring war threats.

A spokesman for the French foreign office said in Paris: "The speech shows that the leaders of America's foreign policy are alive to the danger in Europe."

Britons welcomed the address, broadcast internationally last night, as raising a danger sign against German ambitions in central Europe.

The state department head warned all governments to "be on guard against certain dangerous developments which imperil them."

He made seven proposals which he said were the only ones capable of placing the world firmly on the only road to enduring peace and security.

These embraced economic reconstruction; adherence to international law; observance of treaties and their orderly modification when necessary; abstention from use of force; no interference in the internal affairs of other nations and peaceful settlement of differences; disarmament; and cultural collaboration.

"In a smaller and smaller world," he said, "it will soon no longer be possible for some nations to choose and follow the way of force and for other nations to follow the way of reason. All will have to go in one direction and by one way."

"We well know, of course, that (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

His condition today was reported "fair."

Japanese Army, After 7 Years, Unable To Restore Order in Manchoukuo

HSINKING, Manchoukuo. (AP)—The Japanese army after seven years in Manchoukuo still is beset by a host of enemies, a compilation of recent incidents of supposed sabotage indicated today.

Japanese army officers admit that Chinese irregular units remain active in the country in which Japan established a protectorate after wresting it from China. They say the irregulars are communist-inspired.

The unofficial compilation of mysterious disasters in industry pointed to a different type of enemy working from within.

Japanese here admitted their fire insurance rates have been tripled in a year because of fires and explosions extending from Tsitsihar, near the northeast border, to Dairen on the south.

The Tsitsihar power plant was destroyed twice by fires. Officials put damage at 500,000 yen (the Japanese yen is worth a fraction over 28 cents), but official estimates were 1,500,000 yen. Saboteurs of a "certain foreign power" were blamed.

Last November all telephone and telegraph communications from Hsinking south were cut for three days, the only official explanation being that children at play dug up the cables, buried several feet underground.

Mukden has been hit hardest. The first aviation assembly plant burned last March, with at least 30 and possibly 100 planes destroyed, among them some of Italian design.

8 Officials Linked To Communist Group

Hatfield Warms Oil Row

Dismissal of two state employees over charges involving Huntington Beach and Wilmington tideland oil pools turned today into a political battle which involved Lieut. Gov. George J. Hatfield, candidate for nomination as governor.

While Hatfield renewed his demands for a complete public investigation of the case, A. E. Stockburger, state finance director, accused Hatfield and his law partner, Fred B. Wood, chairman of the state personnel board, of using the charges as a "political smoke screen."

TWO QUIT JOBS
Last week Carl B. Sturzenacker and Arthur H. Alexander, land division employees, submitted their resignations and an investigator for the personnel board charged Sturzenacker conspired to defraud the state by filing on unclaimed oil lands. Sturzenacker later recalled his resignation.

Stockburger said today, according to the Associated Press, that Hatfield and Wood "used what otherwise would have been a routine matter involving the dismissal from service of two state employees as a political smoke-screen."

'IDEALISTIC' JAPAN
TOKYO. (AP)—The foreign office spokesman, commenting on Secretary Hull's speech, said today, "Mr. Hull is an idealist and this was a repetition of his idealistic diplomacy which contains nothing not included in recent pronouncements."

'NARROW' GERMANY
BERLIN. (AP)—Foreign office said Secretary Hull showed a "narrow mental horizon." Germany evidently resents what was termed America's "endeavor to act as moral preacher."

'WARNING' FRANCE
PARIS. (AP)—French newspapers printed large extracts of Hull's speech and some headlined it, "America's warning to the totalitarian states." High officials said "sentiments he expressed are those of France."

'A CHANGE' ITALY
ROME. (AP)—Fascists saw Hull's speech as a swing from forced to armament reduction and economic reconstruction and as an attack on the "have not" nations, Italy and Germany.

'ENDORSED' ENGLAND
LONDON. (AP)—Newspapers generally endorsed Hull's statement. The Manchester Guardian said Hull "more persistently than Roosevelt," told the country that "whether they like it or not they are affected by revolutionary tides that threaten to sweep the world. Fascist, inclined, Lord Rothermere's Evening News criticized Hull under the heading "Far Off Fulminations."

'PROBE DEMANDED'
Meanwhile Hatfield renewed his demand for an investigation, saying "there has been a patent attempt by the Merriam administration to smother the investigation . . . but the state lands commission is not bound by any 'deal' that Mr. Stockburger has entered into . . . I believe full inquiry should be made into the operations of the lobbyist, Joe Rosenthal, in connection with these oil leases, to determine whether he was selling his influence with the state administration . . ."

"If the public has been exploited, the public has a right to know the facts. I believe the interest of the public will be best served by a complete investigation of this tideland oil scandal. And I am vigorously opposed to any attempt to 'cover up' or 'whitewash' governmental misconduct."

'PUBLIC FUNDS ASSIST REDS, PROBES TOLD'
WASHINGTON. (AP)—Rep. Mason (R., Ill.), a member of the house committee investigating subversive activities, named eight government officials today as "acknowledged members" of the American League for Peace and Democracy which he said had connections with the Communist party.

The officials named are Harry Lambertson, assistant rural electrification administrator; Dallas W. Smythe, of the central statistical board; Fred Silcox, head of the forest service; Robert Marshall, an official of the public lands service; Oscar Chapman, assistant secretary of the interior; John Carmody, rural electrification administrator; Mary Anderson, director of the women's bureau, and Alice Barrows, in the office of education.

CHARGE DENIED
Mason made his charge during the testimony by H. L. Chaillaux, American Legion official, concerning Communist activities in the United States.

Smythe, who said he was vice president of the American League for Democracy and Peace, was the first of the eight named to comment on Chaillaux's statements.

"It is a matter of common knowledge," said Smythe, "that our organization is not Communist and our records are always available for proof."

MEMBERSHIP ADMITTED
Lambertson declared the league was dedicated to "a quarantine-the-aggressor policy" enunciated by President Roosevelt in an address at Chicago last fall.

Assistant Secretary Chapman of the interior department said he "believed" he was a member of the league.

"I never attended a meeting—and this is not said in the way of defense," he told reporters. "I've been very interested in the cause (democracy and peace) and I don't know of any Communists in the organization."

WPA INVOLVED
Earlier in Chaillaux's testimony, Committee Chairman Dies (D., Tex.) and the witness agreed that public funds are being used indirectly to promote communism in the United States. The witness declared that the communist party controls the Workers Alliance, or organization which has some WPA workers among its members.

"Then public funds are being used indirectly to promote communism in the United States," Dies interrupted to say.

"Yes," Chaillaux agreed.

'COMMUNIST CONTROL'
The Workers Alliance is apparently playing the WPA to the limit, trying to get the WPA workers to believe they can get them more pay monthly," the witness asserted.

"It is controlled by the communist party to further its program but the huge majority of Alliance members have no idea that it is controlled by the party."

Chaillaux said the Alliance membership book claimed that "we are recognized as a collective bar" (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Who Is Next For 'Purge'?

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Addition of Senator Millard Tydings (D., Md.) and Rep John O'Connor (D., N. Y.) to President Roosevelt's personal "purge list" left casual politicians wondering today whether he would denounce other anti-administration congressmen.

Speculation centered principally on Senator E. D. Smith (D., S. C.). The President did not mention Smith's name last week in an appeal to Greenville, N. C., for election of Liberal legislators, but some persons thought he might do so before the primary Aug. 30.

The only other senate race in which he might take a hand is in Connecticut, where Senator Lomenger, who voted against some White House bills, is endorsed by Attorney General Cummings, and most politicians consider it unlikely the President will intervene.

Mr. Roosevelt announced his opposition to Tydings and O'Connor—and support of their New Deal opponents—at a press conference yesterday. Previously he had asked the voters of Georgia to defeat Senator Walter F. George.

O'Connor, chairman of the important house rules committee, promptly said he accepted the President's challenge. A petition was filed last night to place his name on the Republican as well as the Democratic primary ballot.

"The voters in the 16th congressional district," O'Connor said, "will alone decide who will represent them in the house of representatives. The President lives in the 26th district. Ham Fish (a Republican) is his congressman."

O'Connor declined comment at this time, but indicated he would reply to the President later.

Mr. Roosevelt chose a New York Post editorial as the medium for expressing his views, saying it could be considered his own statement. The editorial supported O'Connor's right to publicly repudiate those who have betrayed the New Deal in the past and will again.

N. Y. Numbers 'Racket' Netted $45,000 a Day, Dewey Says

HINES PAID $500 A DAY, JURORS TOLD

NEW YORK. (AP)—Dist. Atty. Thomas E. Dewey told a supreme court today that James J. (Jimmy) Hines, 61-year-old Tammany district leader, was paid $500 a week, always in cash in return for political protection for the late Dutch Schultz's multi-million-dollar policy racket.

Dewey's statements, made in his opening address at Hines' trial on conspiracy charges, were denounced by Defense Counsel Lloyd Paul Stryker as "diabolical falsehoods."

$500 A WEEK

"I shall show you that James J. Hines never conspired with anyone," Stryker told the jury. "He never received $500 a week from Dutch Schultz."

"The whole case," he said, "is saturated with the rankest perjury presented to a jury in New York county."

"The judge," he said, indicating that he might ask for a dismissal without a defense, "may determine that this fifth does not qualify as legal evidence."

The defense attorney also vigorously denied Dewey's accusations that Former Dist. Atty. William C. Dodge, a Tammany man, and Magistrate Hulon Capshaw had been "influenced, intimidated or bribed" by Hines.

RACKET ORGANIZED

In his opening address, Dewey vividly sketched the operations of the policy racket and charged that the notorious Dutch Schultz mob had boasted to the underworld that Hines was the political protector of the "pennies from Harlem" racket.

Dewey charged that Hines was present with Abraham "Bo" Weinberg, a Schultz mobster, in March, 1932, at a meeting in which the Schultz gang laid plans to "take over" the policy racket, then unorganized.

The prosecutor said J. Richard (Dickie) Davis, known as "the kid mouthpiece" of the Schultz gang, who has pleaded guilty and turned state's evidence in the present trial, was also present at the meeting.

$45,000 A DAY

"By the use of gunmen, beatings and murder, Schultz took over control of the business," Dewey said. "Its center was located in Harlem, where 500 storekeepers alone acted as collectors."

Dewey said that having organized the policy racket with political protection, Schultz harvested $45,000 a day in 1933, a total of $20,000,000 a year.

In his opening statement at Hines had been able to point growing out of the policy racket, Dewey said that at the organization meeting of the gangsters, Hines had been able to point to the "effectiveness" of his political protection—and that numerous policy cases had been thrown out of court although the police had staged "perfect raids."

AID CANDIDATES

Dewey also charged that the Schultz racket contributed to the campaign funds of Former Dist. Atty. William Copeland Dodge, whom Dewey has named in a bill of particulars as having been "intimidated, influenced or bribed" by the policy mob.

He said the contributions were made "on instructions from Hines" and that the mob provided "thousands and thousands" of gangland votes for the former Tammany district attorney.

Earlier in outlining his case, Dewey pictured the policy racket as influenced by "superstitions and dreams" and said that it was played by poor people against 1,000-to-1 odds.

In measured tones, the 36-year-old prosecutor told the specially drawn jury in supreme court that the keystone of the 13-count indictment was the charge against Hines of giving political protection—the "fix"—to the policy racket.

POORER PEOPLE BET

"Colossal sums are wagered annually in small amounts, largely played among the poorer of the city," he said.

"There are penny bets, 2-cent bets, nickel bets, dime bets, occasionally a quarter, a half dollar, a dollar. Seldom does it run over a $5 bet."

Dewey said the policy game began in New York about 20 years ago, operating through the use of clearing house figures to provide its winning numbers.

As he spoke, folding a slip of yellow paper to illustrate the method of betting, Hines, 61-year-old Tammany district leader, a major figure in New York for the past quarter century, listened carefully.

"After the policy organization got going, they decided to make more money by making it all crooked and fixing the numbers," Dewey said.

"Except for the small bets, the public was defrauded."

RASPBERRY BAVARIAN CREAM

(4 to 6 Servings)
One cup crushed raspberries, 1/2 cup raspberry juice, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/4 cup cold water, 2 tablespoons gelatin, 1 cup heavy cream.
Soak gelatin in cold water, add to heated raspberry juice, add sugar and stir until dissolved. Remove, cool and add stiffly beaten cream and crushed raspberries. Serve in a tall glass with a spoonful of whipped cream and a whole raspberry as a garnish.

MEET THE PRINCIPALS IN NEW YORK'S BIG RACKET TRIAL

He Accuses . . .
Racket-buster Thomas E. Dewey, crusading district attorney of New York, cracked down on the $100,000,000 policy ("numbers") racket by indicting nine men. Dewey, Republican, was elected in 1937 on a "reform" ticket, is being mentioned for governor.

Mr. Hines Of A Link To . . .
Big shot of the nine is James J. Hines, powerful Tammany chief, who is accused of providing political protection and acting as "front man" for the racket. Hines rose from a blacksmith's anvil to district leader and the inner circle of the Wigwag.

Late Dutch Schultz And . . .
The policy racket used to be run by gang chief Arthur Flegenheimer alias Dutch Schultz alias the Dutchman, who was killed by gangster bullets in 1935. Prohibition made him a big shot; after repeal he organized New York's policy ring.

Davis Who Said 'Guilty' . . .
Schultz's mouthpiece was J. Richard Davis alias Dixie Davis, a debarred lawyer charged by Dewey with having taken over the lucrative policy game, with others. Davis was arrested in Philadelphia last winter; with him was show girl Hope Dare.

After Visit To Hope Dare.
First intimation that Davis had turned states evidence came when he was discovered visiting his girl friend, Hope Dare, in her New York apartment, presumably with Dewey's knowledge. Court orders had permitted him to visit his doctor.

HULL PLEA FOR LAWLESSNESS CHECK BACKED

a condition of wholesale chaos will not develop overnight; but it is clear that the present trend is in that direction and the longer this drift continues the greater becomes the danger that the whole world may be sucked into a maelstrom of unregulated and savage economic, political and military competition and conflict.

Hull spoke emphatically to place America's moral influence at this time before a Europe rendered uneasy by Hitler's mobilization of 1,000,000 men for maneuvers near the French and Czech borders. His text was communicated to many governments today by American diplomats.

He said a clear-cut issue is before the world:

"The first of the alternative ways leads through military adventuring, international lawlessness, the result of which is chaos and loss of the previous values which, through centuries of struggle, toil and sacrifice, civilized nations have slowly achieved."

"The other way leads, through the exercise of moral restraint and observance of international obligations and treaties to conditions of order based on law, giving security and facilitating progress."

8 OFFICIALS LINKED TO COMMUNISTS

gaining agent by the WPA and local relief agencies."

RUSSIA VISITED

He remarked that David Lasser, head of the Alliance, claimed not to be a communist but added that Lasser recently visited Moscow with "Mother Bloor, a well-known communist" and returned to this country "loud in his praise of the present program in Soviet Russia."

"We are firm in our belief," said Chaillaux, "that the communist party, since it does represent the dictatorships, has no right to be called a legal party in the United States and has no right to have its activities legalized through the medium of the ballot."

He proposed that the government and states call for a strict accounting of political expenses of the communist party.

OFFICIALS BELONG

Later Representative Mason interrupted to ask:

"Do you know that many public officials belong to the league for peace and democracy?"

"I do," Chaillaux replied.

After reading the names of the government officials he said belonged to the local organization of the league, Mason quoted Marshall as declaring he was in favor of public ownership of oil lands "both in this country and in Mexico."

Mason said he thought that stateized significant in view of Mexico's recent expropriation of British and American oil lands.

BROWDER QUOTED
Questioned by Mason as to whether he would say the League for Peace and Democracy was a Communist organization, Chaillaux declared he had the word of Earl Browder, Communist party leader, that it was.

Mason gave the opinion that the league was being used by the Communist party "to further its own interests."

In his testimony on the Workers' Alliance, Chaillaux said that organization claimed 800,000 members.

LETTER READ

Chairman Dies read a letter from the state department to a committee attached to the American League Against War and Fascism, which became the American League for Peace and Democracy in December, registered with the department and became authorized to solicit funds for "medical aid and assistance or for food and clothing to relieve human suffering in Spain."

The department listed these officers of the organization:

Chairman, Harry F. Ward; acting treasurer, James Waterman W. Reid; Executive board members, the repatriated said, are: Roger Baldwin, Max Yergan, Leroy E. Bowman, Eleanor Brannan, Margaret Forsyth, Clarence Hathaway, Earl Browder, William B. Spofford, Harry F. Ward and James Waterman Wise.

FOUNDER TO BE CALLED

"Colossal sums are associated" for Peace and Democracy was not interested in either peace or democracy, but only in "hiding their support of Communism."

Dies announced the committee "probably" would hear testimony from the founder of the league.

Discussing the international workers' order, Chaillaux said it was "very closely associated" with many of the Communist party's activities. He said the international labor defense had many high sounding objectives, but, after reading some of the organization's instructions to its members in event of arrest, called it "a good racket."

Asserting the American Civil Liberties Union "pretends" to be devoted to the legal defense of persons who otherwise might have none, Chaillaux quoted one of its officials, Roger N. Baldwin, as declaring he sought "social ownership of property" and as asserting "Communism is the goal."

All Will Be Quiet On Turkish Front

ISTANBUL. (AP)—The municipal council is planning to make Istanbul a "city of noiseless night." A new ordinance provides heavy fines and imprisonment for anyone causing unnecessary noise between 8 p. m. and 8 a. m.

The "all quiet" order forbids milkmen and street vendors to "cry their wares" as they have done for centuries. Automobile drivers sounding their horns at night will lose their licenses.

Owners of radios must close their windows at 11 p. m. Defaulters will be fined and have their radio sets confiscated.

Keep a full cookie jar for the youngsters. Plain sugar, coconut, ginger or chocolate cookies are very good—and easy to make. You can save time by dropping the dough from the tip of a spoon onto a greased baking sheet or by spreading a thin layer of dough in a shallow, greased pan and cutting it into squares after it is baked.

When He Buys Cows He Leaves Cash at Home

ROBERT LEE, Tex. (AP)—J. H. Smith, veteran cattle buyer, never takes $1000 bills with him any more when he sets out to buy cattle.

"I tried it once and offered it in payment for animals I had contracted to buy, but cattlemen after cattlemen turned it down," says Smith.

He had to dig a hole, bury the bill and then make his bed over it when he camped at night. Even then he rested uneasily for fear someone would attempt to rob him.

Indians Object to Phoney Indians

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—After the appearance of white men dressed as Indians in Milwaukee's Midsummer Festival Harold Wilde, representing the festival, received Chippewa Indian reproof for the a protest from Francis Coleman, Consolidated Tribes of North American Indians, in this city.

"Ugh," Coleman wrote. "Milwaukeeans get disgusted when we witness the sorry spectacle of white men trying to imitate us in our ceremonial dances. It can't be done and the sooner that is realized the better it will be for future pageants."

Wilde replied that the pageant commission would consider using real Indians instead of palefaces in the future.

'MAD KILLER'S' NEW VICTIMS UNIDENTIFIED

CLEVELAND, (AP)—Detectives found arm, leg and rib bones today on Cleveland's lakefront dump. Coroner Samuel R. Gerber said they were parts of the body of the 12th victim of the city's mad "torso killer."

The bones, which Coroner Gerber said matched a skull found last night 100 feet away, were those of a man.

The head and upper torso of a woman—the 11th torso killing victim—were found at the dump yesterday.

The coroner said he was satisfied after investigation, that No. 13th victim was represented. Earlier he had expressed belief the bone collection gathered in two days might be from three persons.

"But how many persons this man has murdered is a question only to be answered by his arrest, if then," Dr. Gerber said.

He declared the same methods of disarticulation and surgery used upon the earlier victims—all found since September, 1935—showed the "mad killer" was guilty of the latest deaths.

The victims were unidentified, like all but three of the four women and six men known to have met a similar fate in the last three years.

A search for scrap iron led James Dawson, 21, to the horrible remnants of a woman. A curious passer-by attracted by officers at the scene uncovered decomposed fragments of the second victim, described by Gerber as "probably another woman."

A hair pin was found with the severed bones. Remains of the first, Gerber said, indicated that she had been slain not more than six months ago. He said the other had been killed an indefinite time before.

Police said gruesome parcels containing the pieced apart bodies had been in the dump not more than two or three weeks.

The first body was in four parts, the skull, upper torso and dismembered arms and legs. The torso was found concealed under stones, wrapped in butcher's paper, a dark blue suit and a torn quilt. The head, also wrapped in paper, was a few feet distant. A similar package and two cardboard cartons held other segments.

Nearly 200 feet away were found the skull, in a tin can, and paper-wrapped bones of the second victim.

The coroner placed the age of the woman at between 30 and 40 years. She had light brown hair and weighed about 120 pounds.

Portions of the second victim, possibly a negro, were so decomposed as to make it impossible immediately to determine sex or age. Eighteen x-ray pictures were expected to produce further data.

Assault and battery charges were filed today against Bill Gonzales, 1907 West Fifth street, following a complaint to Santa Ana police that Gonzales struck Adolph Amarillos on the head with a pump in an argument over work in the tomato fields.

Patsy Miller, 1809 Heliotrope drive, reported the theft of her purse containing $2, her driver's license and library card, while she was playing tennis at the high school courts yesterday afternoon.

Police are searching for two men who sold a piece of fur, which they said was valued at $20, to Margaret Funakoshi, 1322 South Main street, for $10 Monday.

Frank Crowell, 1417 Durant street, reported a prowler ran out of his home when the Crowell family returned at 8:48 p. m. yesterday.

Harry Langdon May Succeed Stan Laurel in Comedy Team As Result of Contract Row

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—Stan Laurel, sad-faced comedy star, was accused of breach of contract today by Hal Roach studio in a legal squabble that threatened to end his long screen partnership with Oliver (Babe) Hardy.

Ben W. Shipman, Laurel's attorney, said he previously had served notice upon the studio that the slender actor was ready, willing and able to fulfill all his contractual obligations at any time.

Differences between Laurel and Roach executives arose over his absence from Hollywood at a time when several retakes were to be made for his latest picture, "Blockheads."

Laurel contends his departure did not violate terms of his contract, because he had obtained permission to leave with his wife, Illiana, Russian dancer, and was not informed that the retakes were scheduled.

The Laurel and Hardy team has two additional pictures to make under their contract. If the squabble is not settled, studio diko in that Harry Langdon may succeed Stan as Fat Oliver's thin man partner.

2 RIVALS FOR BENCH ATTEND TOWN MEET

A record audience turned out for last night's Town Meeting program in the Unitarian church to hear Superior Judge James L. Allen, a candidate for reelection, and Attorney Franklin G. West, who opposes Allen for the judgeship of department Two, defend their candidacies.

Judge Allen devoted most of his talk to an analysis of the problem created by the increase of crime in the United States, and by the extreme youthfulness of present criminal. "Eighteen per cent of the crime in this country is committed by youths under 20 years of age," he said. "Every minute and a half some major crime is being committed, and the crime bill totals $4,000,000 every year."

He pledged continued conduct of his office along the same lines as in the past, with emphasis on combating the mounting crime wave and rescuing first offenders from criminal records.

West outlined the main types of courts in California and discussed the functions and work of the superior court. He based his campaign on "years of successful legal practice, with a thorough understanding of legal practices and necessities, which he declared are pre-requisites to fair and competent handling of the law from a superior court bench."

Next week's Town Meeting, the last before the primary election, will be devoted to talks by representatives of the various gubernatorial candidates.

CITRUS MARKET PACT HELD NEAR 'BLOWUP'

"The California-Arizona marketing agreement will blow up within a year unless certain difficulties are ironed out."

This statement came today from C. M. Brown, widely-known independent citrus shipper and chairman of the Growers' Advisory committee, governing board of the California-Arizona pro rate board.

"Already two formal protests have been entered," said Brown, a politically potent friend of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace who has direct authority to cancel the shippers' agreement. "The Mutual Orange Distributors filed one last Friday and the American Fruit Growers also has one on file."

Speaking to newspapermen in Redlands, Brown maintained the difficulties arise from inability of the California Fruit Growers' exchange and the independents to agree on the amount of fruit that should be shipped.

Several times, he said, the distribution committee, composed of four exchange men and four independents, has been unable to fix a prorated and has referred the problem to the advisory committee.

The marketing order, he explained, can be dissolved in two ways: First, by order of the secretary of agriculture; second, by vote of 51 per cent of the growers. The exchange has more than 51 per cent of the growers and can terminate the plan at any time, but independents would have to get the secretary to terminate it, Brown indicated.

GOVERNOR IS S. A. VISITOR

Gov. Frank F. Merriam visited Santa Ana briefly yesterday afternoon, in between a luncheon and a tea engagement.

Merriam conferred briefly with Chairman Willard Smith of the board of supervisors, who recessed the county board for the chat, but brought no word of when Orange county might expect an allocation from a $5,000,000 state fund appropriated last March for rebuilding of flood-damaged public works.

I Just Found Out About Orange County

By MILLARD BROWNE

News Vender

Thousands of magazines have been born and hundreds have died—in the last 19 years, but to Mrs. Freda F. Lawrence, who's been selling them all that time from the same "hole in the wall" at Fourth and Birch streets, they're just a never-ending stream that comes in on a truck and goes out over the counter.

As dailies, weeklies, fortnightlys, monthlies, quarterlies and annuals, publications come in steadily increasing numbers to the Lawrence Smoke Shop, whose proprietor, as the saying is, "has the stock around 100 magazines and a dozen papers."

When the shop opened in 1919, for instance, there were only three or four pulp magazines; now there are hundreds, and they sell like hotcakes. Up till a year and a half ago, there were only two comic magazines (now around 45), and there weren't any such picture magazines as Life, Look, Pic, Foto, etc.

Nineteen years has seen the rise of such current favorites as Liberty, the four magazines published by Time, the three published by Esquire, and dozens of others. It's seen fall of Literary Digest, Modern Priscilla, and some other old-time best-sellers.

Mrs. Lawrence has seen some magazines prosper and others fall, and she could tell, just from the way her customers react, how their popularity is holding up. She saw Time gradually steal the Literary Digest popularity, for instance, and after the Digest picked a loser in its famous 1936 presidential poll, she saw the sales drop off to nothing.

Oldest magazine that's "folded up" since the Lawrence shop has been in existence is Modern Priscilla. It's been dead eight years, but an occasional customer still asks for it.

Mrs. Lawrence has been running the shop alone since the sudden accidental death of her husband, A. H. M. Lawrence, a year ago. They built it up together, got to know 90 per cent of their customers so well they could guess what they were going to buy when they came down the street.

The agile magazine-vender usually even has a pretty fair idea what kind of magazine a stranger wants. "You can tell just by watching which type of magazine their eyes rest on," she explains.

Certain authors who get "plugs" on the front cover will sell some magazines, for example, and customers won't even bother to look inside when they see the name on the woman's division, Kathleen Norris is best front-cover advertisement).

Ordinarily, though, the short-story magazines sell to a steady clientele, and the ones that will make abnormally large sales are special articles. "Jimmy's Got It" sold out that issue of Saturday Evening Post in record time, and Mrs. Lawrence still is getting calls for it; the current Collier's, carrying Jimmy Roosevelt as the answer to the Post article, sold out just as fast.

Mrs. Lawrence keeps up on her current news, too. Her newspaper sales fluctuate directly according to how lively the headline happens to be.

Best newspaper sales of the year: the March flood, which sold out all available copies of local, Los Angeles, and even eastern papers. The customers bought the eastern newspapers to find out what was being said about the flood behind their backs).

The 1933 earthquake produced an even bigger run on eastern papers. The Lawrence shop stocks around 50 out-of-town papers, sells numerous ones from Oklahoma, Oregon, Arizona, Seattle. Biggest out-of-state sales are in the Denver Post and the Kansas City Star, mostly to natives of those areas.

Best recent spot news sale: the Corrigan flight, which outsold the Howard Hughes hop by long odds.

In the old days, such "planned" news as a presidential election or major prize fight, sold lots of papers, but radio has taken most of these sales away. Mrs. Lawrence explains, and recently a "sensational" or "spectacular" event will do better. "Steadfast newspaper sales are to the racing fans, especially when Santa Anita is going."

Commentary on who buys what kind of news: Professional men get the morning papers; workingmen buy afternoon papers, usually a Herald Express and a Santa Ana paper.

Mrs. Lawrence has worked up a pretty fair business by stocking some little-known magazine for one or two customers. One of these, "Science of Mind," now has built up to about 35 sales a month; others that have done the same are "Western Construction News" and "The Desert." She still buys "The Down Beat" as a courtesy to one customer.

The smoke shop's list of "reserve" orders fills a whole side of a show-case, includes dozens of requests from customers to lay aside a certain magazine when it comes in. One Laguna man wants a

NEW INDIGENT POLICY ALSO WILL BE TOPIC

ANAHEIM. — Plans for the first annual Orange county "business clinic" to be held in October will be laid here Aug. 25 when secretaries and presidents of the county's various chambers of commerce hold their monthly conference.

The secretaries and presidents also will discuss the state's indigent problem, in an attempt to line up a uniform policy for coping with the situation.

The question of whether or not chambers of commerce should get into state legislative problems will come up when the officials discuss a letter from the Los Angeles chamber asking them to "take an interest" in the California $30 a week pension plan, which has been actively opposed by the Los Angeles group.

RANCHER HELD AFTER DISPUTE OVER TRUCK

A. H. Holford, Newport district rancher, was held to answer to superior court today on felonious assault charges arising out of a tussle with a finance company man who tried to repossess a car Holford was buying.

Justice of the Peace Chris Pann of Huntington Beach, sitting for Justice Kenneth Morrison in Santa Ana justice court, ordered Holford held for the higher court after preliminary hearing today.

Holford was arrested after W. E. Patterson, employee of the Federal Finance company, had taken the car July 8. Patterson testified today that both Holford and his son set upon him as he drove the car off the Holford ranch.

"Holford rammed a shovel handle into my ribs as I sat in the car," said Patterson. "The boy jumped in the back seat and twisted my arm. Holford struck me and smashed my glasses into my eyes. . . I yanked loose and got out of the car, falling down. . . They both came at me. I said, 'look out for my glasses,' and Holford said, 'To hell with the glasses.' The boy tripped me, and one of them kicked me while I was down."

Mrs. Patterson came to the aid of her husband, he said, after he had thrown Holford to the ground.

CHAPTER XXXIV

CYNTHIA sank weakly into a chair. So Aunt Kate had thought it was Aggie Brown and, loyal as ever, had lied again! Cynthia felt trapped—trapped in the coils of her own deception!

Suddenly, despite her dismay, the irony of the situation struck her. She began to laugh rather hysterically. The others stared at her in amazement.

Then, she pulled herself together and said, "Let me call Miss Glenn. She didn't snatched Mrs. Potter-Payne. 'I've had enough of this nonsense! Bruce, take her upstairs and—'"

She broke off as Beatrice came hurrying into the room, carrying a suitcase.

"I came down to pack those books of mine," said the English girl, "and to tell you that I'm leaving for New York tomorrow morning."

"What!" exclaimed her hostess. "Yes," said Beatrice, smiling radiantly. "That letter you brought me was an offer of a job—companion to a wealthy old lady who's sailing for England next week. I'm so thrilled!"

Cynthia abruptly jumped up. "Why not ask Miss Kerr about the pearls?" she said recklessly. "This story of a job may be just a hoax! Getaway! What does she mean?"

"Miss Smith!" gasped Mrs. Potter-Payne, shocked.

"Well," said Cynthia, defensively, "it was a woman I saw sneaking into the greenhouse after I found the spoons buried there. It could have been Miss Kerr!"

Bruce took her hands, but Irene wrenched away from him. "Let go of me! I hate you!" she said furiously. "Our engagement is broken! Do you understand? Broken!"

"Darling!" Bruce was frantic. "Please don't say that! Haven't I told you that I'm going to work on Tommy's farm—so that I'll be able to marry you and have something to offer you? I don't want a cent of your money! It's true that there was some conversation as Miss Smith mentions, but—"

"So you admit it! Very well! That's all I want to hear!" Irene turned her back on him, and walked to a window.

CYNTHIA almost wished she had not spoken. Bruce was looking so utterly miserable that she could not help feeling sorry for him—what ever he might be.

"The Payne took a hand in the quarrel."

"Irene," she said, "I think you're behaving very foolishly! I'm sure Bruce loves you. And all this talk about money is silly! What does it matter? I have no money, certainly, and am only too glad to share it. And I wouldn't think of letting Bruce grub on a farm! I want him to take you home to England with him—to his castle."

Cynthia glanced quickly at Bruce. She wondered if there was a castle, but she hadn't the heart to reveal that part of the conversation she had overheard.

Bruce, however, to her surprise, settled the question himself. "Miss Potter-Payne," he said shamefacedly, "I'm—I'm afraid Beatrice and I did deceive you a bit about that castle. That is, it's not exactly a castle—"

"What!" exclaimed Mrs. Potter-Payne, suddenly stiffening. "You mean there's no castle?"

"Well . . . it's really only a modest country home. You see, some time ago, Bee and I started amusing ourselves by calling it 'our castle'—just in fun, you know. 'Then' when we met you and saw that you were impressed when we mentioned 'our castle'—well, the truth is that we couldn't resist the temptation to go on impressing you."

"But what about that picture you showed me?"

"Be cut that out of a travel catalogue."

"Oh!" Mrs. Potter-Payne was outraged. That the Kerrs had no money didn't bother her, but that they had no castle was a bitter blow. "The idea of you taking me in like that! Irene—did you hear what he said?"

Irene turned from the window. "Yes," she said, giving Bruce a withering glance. "He seems to have done a good job of deception all around!"

Bruce winced, then suddenly looked defiantly at Irene and her mother.

"Very well!" he said. "Bee and I did deceive you—but we are not the only ones who have been pretending! We've confessed about our castle. We intended to—until we discovered that we ourselves were being taken in."

"What . . . what do you mean?" Mrs. Potter-Payne asked apprehensively.

Bruce looked at her steadily. "We found out that some one else was also trying to make an impression—some one who talked a lot about her ancestors, and who claimed this lovely old house as her ancestral home!"

Mrs. Potter-Payne had wilted. "Who—who told you?" she whispered.

"Well . . . not exactly, darling. 'It is true!' Irene cut in, her eyes flashing. 'I can tell from your face! So you're only after my money! So that's it! You—you don't love me at all!'"

"I do, sweetheart! Please listen to me . . ."

Seal Beach Plan Meets Opposition

A protest by Dr. Louis C. Schildwacher, Los Angeles dentist and property owner at Sunset Beach against extension of the Seal Beach breakwater, was referred by county supervisors yesterday afternoon to U. S. army engineers, who issued the permit for the extension.

Dr. Schildwacher protested extension of the breakwater 108 feet on grounds it would cause filling of Anaheim bay and create unsanitary conditions.

BEATRICE'S LAW HAD DROPPED

"What on earth is the girl talking about? Spoons? Pearls? Getaway? What does she mean?" Bruce stepped forward, his face red. "Miss Smith," he said coldly, "you've gone a bit too far! I stood for your accusations against me, but I'm blown if I'll allow you to speak this way of my sister!"

He turned, then, and explained to Beatrice what had been happening.

"And she accuses us of taking the things?" exclaimed Beatrice. "To save herself? Why, the little beast!"

"Well, why not?" Cynthia demanded. She realized that she had already said far too much, but she had to plunge on and back up her charges. "You and your brother are badly in need of money, aren't you?"

Beatrice bristled. "We're not rich, certainly—but what of it? I would be rather hard up myself, as far as that goes!"

"Yes—but I didn't come here with designs on Mrs. Potter-Payne's fortune!" Cynthia whirled and addressed herself rapidly to her employer. "Ask them about a conversation I overheard between them on the first night I was here! They talked quite coolly of their reason for being here—which was to marry your daughter and son for the money they'd get out of it! It was plain, too, that it was a serious matter with them—that they were in imminent need of cash. I don't know why Miss Kerr changed her mind about Tommy, but anyway, Mr. Kerr seems to have fixed himself up nicely with your daughter!"

Beatrice and Bruce were now looking very confused. They both glanced uncertainly at their hostess and Irene, who were obviously taken aback.

Then, Irene said, "Bruce! Is this true?"

"Well . . . not exactly, darling. 'It is true!' Irene cut in, her eyes flashing. 'I can tell from your face! So you're only after my money! So that's it! You—you don't love me at all!'"

"I do, sweetheart! Please listen to me . . ."

Bride-Elect
Is Feted
At Shower

A bathroom shower was the pleasant courtesy extended Miss Frances was last evening, when Mrs. John McAuley and daughter, Miss Jean McAuley, entertained in their home, 1319 North Broadway. Miss Frances will become the bride of Jack Lindsey on Sept. 24, at which time Miss McAuley will be one of her bridesmaids.

As mother and daughter joined in entertaining it seemed appropriate that their guests should also be mothers and daughters. They enjoyed a lively round of canteen during the evening, prizes going to Mrs. Arthur Lindsey, high, and Miss Margaret Munro, second.

Card tables were then transformed into miniature bathroom scenes which revolved about a frilly nuptial centerpiece. Tallies too had borne the bathroom theme, for they were handfasted and miniature cardboard bathtubs, each with its frilly shower curtain and carried out the blue and yellow color scheme of the evening. Following the refreshment course, the honoree was privileged to open her many pretty gifts, which were presented to her in a handsome bathroom hamper, the gift of the McAuleys.

On the guest list with Mrs. McAuley and Jean and another daughter, Mrs. William Hill, who assisted in party plans, were the honoree, Miss Frances, and her mother, Mrs. Frank Was and her fiancée's mother, Mrs. Lindsey. Also present were George Agne and Miss Polly Agne, Mrs. Hugh Heaney and Miss Grace Heaney, Mrs. Emily Munro and the Misses Jean and Margaret A. Munro, Mrs. Ira Kroese, Mrs. O. Scott McFarland and Miss Mary Lou McFarland, Mrs. Harry Warner and Miss Barbara Warner, Mrs. Harry Kemper and Miss Mildred Kemper of San Bernardino and Miss Elizabeth Sturdevant.

Southern
Guest Inspires
Party

Mrs. J. P. Thompson of Waco, Tex., was the incentive for a lovely bridge luncheon, given yesterday by her cousins, Miss Louise and Miss Gertrude Montgomery. Their home, which overlooks the ocean in Newport Beach, was filled with summer flowers in soft pastel shades from the gardens of Mrs. Cassius Paul, Mrs. Harry Westover, Mrs. Harold Segerstrom, Mrs. Guy Miller and Mrs. Clarence Nisson.

A delightful three-course luncheon was served, following which the guests enjoyed an afternoon playing bridge. Progress from table to table had been made easier, for instead of numbering them, each table had a clever figurine on it, and was named after these. Miss Marjorie Rawlings received first prize, Miss Laura Porter, second, and Mrs. Tarver Montgomery third, when the scores were tallied.

Sharing the affair with Mrs. Montgomery were the Mesdames Norman Abell, Mrs. Chester Donley of Brawley, Mrs. Clara Duggan, Mrs. Roscoe Hewett, Elizabeth Hewett Hillegasse of San Pedro, Traver Montgomery, Clarence Nisson, Cassius Paul, Guy Miller, Harold Segerstrom, F. FOUR-FOUR CLUB MEETS

Many lovely sheafs of gladioluses decorated the home of Mrs. J. R. White, 208 West Highland avenue yesterday afternoon, when she was hostess to members of her Four-Four club.

Following the serving of a refreshing salad course, 500 was played. First prize was awarded Mrs. T. F. Bernier, while Mrs. Homer F. Larkin was consoled. Others present were a guest, Mrs. Glenn Eustis, and Mesdames E. C. Cardy, Ernest Dunn, R. M. Hargroves of Orange, and W. C. Bond of Costa Mesa.

Chemistry has taken a hand in the making of this summer's chapeaux. Now you see one made of a thin, shiny sheet of plastic—honey colored and opaque. A bow and chin strap of white grosgrain ribbon fall under the brim.

T-I-D B-I-T-S..

By DR. MARY E. WRIGHT

While Jerry and Jessie Landis are staying in the Irvine blue cottage at Corona Del Mar this month, they are carrying out a social program for their friends in that lovely big room 50x30, so fitted for entertaining. Mr. Landis comes home frequently to look after his lovely garden and I notice them dining in various cafes at various times, so they are taking life easy during vacation time.

Met Marie Pariss on the street wearing yellow "coveralls" trimmed with white. They were becoming and there is something to be said for the English term for coveralls as they do cover-all, as the short skirts do not.

At a recent tea I noticed particularly those two attractive feminine members of Ernest Winbiger's family. Sub-deb Elizabeth was gowned in printed blue and white linen formal length with white short jacket, and sub-sub-deb Janice was cute in her little ruffled blue taffeta gown, hanging down to her tiny slipper—both girls giving practical help in entertaining.

Mrs. Terry Stephenson told me a good joke on herself. She was talking to Bob Northcross who asked her about Terry III, and when she waxed too enthusiastic Bob replied "Tut! Tut! You are making a noise like a grandmother!"

On another occasion sometime ago I was present when the Ebells ladies entertained their husbands and gentlemen escorts at dinner. Mrs. Terry Stephenson was asked to give the address of welcome to the guests. She began, "The ladies have chosen most appropriate decorations for this dinner" and she gracefully waved her hand at the nearest bouquet made up of flowers and quantities of wild oats. When the audience recognized the inference, a ripple of laughter started, which rose to a storm of applause. The auspicious opening was followed by a brilliant speech.

On South Main street in one small shop, the window lights are in the form of Chinese pagodas made of open brass work touched with bright red and with typical pagoda roof angles. When lighted they are very attractive.

Ellnor Doyle came to my door lately and looked so vivid and attractive. It reminded me of a dinner where she was her brother's partner. Later in the evening big broad shouldered Jim Doyle danced with his young sister like he enjoyed it—and such dancing! It was the very poetry of rhythm.

There are some very distinctive features about the Halsells' new French colonial home. On the grounds, the trees are exclusively conifers. The interior has a lovely color scheme of gold hangings, gold lamp shades and bowl, with a brown carpet. Two priceless Dresden china candelabra, each with five lights, stand on the mantle and were the gift of Mrs. Miranda K. Wagner to her daughter, Della Halsell, after the mother had used and prized them for over 50 years.

Mary King came home from her vacation in a perturbed frame of mind. She found her child, Karen, had developed whooping cough, so now the Kings will be "whooping it up" in a different way.

The Metzgar wedding on Saturday evening was so lovely in every particular. In the bridal party. . . beautiful women. . . the bride in her clinging white satin gown. . . MOTHER AND DAUGHTER
ENTERTAIN

Honoring their niece and cousin, Miss Gertrude Heffner of Anaheim, Mrs. Asa Hoffman and Mrs. Edward Gabe were a very charming mother and daughter duo when they entertained Monday evening in the Hoffman home, 1012 North Broadway. Miss Heffner will wed George Brumley in October.

Pompon dahlias and zinnias were predominant floral decorations throughout the spacious rooms where bridge was played. First prize was awarded to Mrs. Lawrence Casey and second to Miss Ethel Mathis. Card tables were then centered with bowls of baby zinnias for the serving of a delectable refreshment course on rose tinted crystal. And to bring an exciting finale to the pleasant evening, a huge box was presented to the honoree containing crystal from the assembled guests.

Guests present were Miss Percy Blybach, Miss Anita Lee Androus and Mesdames Wanda Montero, Elmer Wales and George Watts, all of Fullerton; Mesdames William Lager, William Grant and Bert Grant of Pasadena; Miss Carolyn Hills of Los Angeles; Mrs. William Crawford of Santa Ana; Mrs. Wilbur Buck of Garden Grove, and the Misses Evelyn Sweeney, Mabel Hansen, Elizabeth Hunziker, Margaret Allen, Ethel Mathis, Dorothy Weatherly, Edith Spencer, Dorothy Borchart and Marie West, all of Anaheim.

BON VOYAGE IS BID AT PRETTY PARTY

Great ruffled orange and yellow marigolds decorated the home of Miss Marie Heilmiller, on Santa Ana Heights, Saturday night when she entertained a bon voyage party honoring her sister, Mrs. Harry Powell, and Miss Carolyn Opp.

Mrs. Powell and two children, Mary Lou and Billy, have been visiting Miss Heilmiller and her father, Henry Heilmiller, for the past two months, and left Monday evening for their home in Port Huron, Mich. Miss Carolyn Opp will leave Friday for the Hawaiian Islands.

A brown and orange theme was noted in the table decorations, which included a beach scene, with hula dancers, and a streamline train as well. Tallies and favors carried out the bon voyage theme, and there were gifts of smart compact for both the honored guests. Fifty fifty was played later in the evening, with prizes for high and low scores going to Miss Arlene Perone and Billy Powell.

Guests sharing the delightful evening were Mrs. Clara Perone and daughter, Arlene, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Harry Powell and Mary Lou and Billy of Port Huron; Miss Carolyn Opp, Miss June Willis and Mrs. Charles Rhinard.

COLORFUL PATIO
IS SETTING FOR SUPPER

The flowering patio with its adjoining greenhouse of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cozad, 1413 South Garnsey street, has made an especially inviting retreat many times throughout the summer for various groups of friends and no gathering was more enjoyable than the one of last Saturday night when a group met for covered dish at fresco supper. Informal playing of cards occupied later evening hours.

Present with the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Cozad were Colonel Lewis, Mrs. Effie Hawley, Mrs. L. Zora Area, Miss Esther Pope and Messrs. and Mesdames Charles Hyatt, Fred Pope, Arthur Cole, Hugh Miller and James Sullivan.

LOCAL GIRL
HOLLYWOOD

Miss Dorothy Goodner of 506 East Myrtle street, who on Sept. 6th will become the bride of the Rev. Clyde Kennedy, now conducting an evangelistic tour through North Carolina, was singularly feted Monday afternoon when she returned to her former home city of Hollywood to be honor guest at a party.

The affair was held in the home of Mrs. Robert L. Borland, 6062 Yucca, and was given by members of the M. G. C. Women's Bible class of the First Presbyterian church of Hollywood, of which Mrs. Borland is the teacher. There were guests there to the number of 30, including the honoree and her mother, Mrs. E. S. Goodner of this city, who for 11 years was teacher of the class.

Mrs. J. B. Trist sang two selections during the afternoon, which was concluded with the serving of ice cream, cake and punch. Miss Goodner was presented with a handsome gift of silver water pitcher and four matching goblets from the group.

HARMONY
BRIDGE CLUB
PICNICS

Members of Harmony Bridge club and their families enjoyed an informal get-together at San Jacinto park last evening when they met for a steak bake and other toothsome dishes of a picnic supper. The affair was in charge of Mrs. Paul Lycan.

The date for the next club meeting was set for Sept. 6th, to be with Mrs. Paul Cozad, 1413 South Garnsey street. A covered dish luncheon will be served in the garden at 12:30 o'clock followed by bridge.

OWENS RETURN FOR VISIT

Returned to their former home town for a visit are Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Owens of Phoenix, Ariz., who arrived Saturday. They will divide their time among their various daughters and their families.

Part of the time will be spent with Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Howard (Kathleen Owens), Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Enderle (Harriet Owens), Mr. and Mrs. Edward Adams (Clara Kate Owens), and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stump (Ruth Owens). Miss Kathleen Cox who makes her home with her grandparents, the Owens in Phoenix, arrived in the Southern three weeks earlier to visit her father, Frank J. Cox, in Los Angeles. She is now in Santa Ana, to enjoy reunion with the rest of the relatives.

RETURN FROM MOUNTAIN CAMP

Mrs. Clara Johnson, 1810 Bush street, returned home Monday from their mountain camp above Bishop to greet her brother, Joe Hupp, who arrived yesterday from Kansas City, Mo., for a short visit.

Mr. Johnson's health has improved so greatly that he plans to stay at the camp for another month. With him at this time are his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Johnson of Pomona. Mrs. Clara Johnson will rejoin him at camp later.

4 MILLIONS IN 4 YEARS FOR HI-WAYS HERE

Orange county has received in the past four years $4,216,037.91 in state work on highway construction, improvement and maintenance, it was announced today in figures tabulated by the department of public works.

Director Earl Lee Kelly reported to Gov. Frank Merriam an additional amount of $1,580,254.13 as this county's share of the one-cent gas tax, the motor vehicle license tax and share of the one-cent gas tax, the motor vehicle license tax and bus and truck tax during the same period.

Cities of the county in the same four-year period have received $434,342.49 as their share of the two-quarter cent gas tax apportionments to cities.

Newspaper Picture Reunites Former Shrine Head, Mother After 55-Year Separation

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Fredrich J. Wadley, Jr., past Shrine potentate, introduced to his family today by his mother, from whom he had been lost for 55 years.

Mrs. Katherine Deverell, 77, stumbled upon the key to the reunion on her farm in Corbett, Ore., during the recent Shrine convention in Los Angeles.

She read of a man named Fredrich J. Wadley, Jr., and, hoping he might be her son, wrote to him of how she had left her boy in Clyde, N. Y., with his grandmother after marital trouble with her husband in 1883.

"I took a newspaper picture to bring us together," said Wadley today "and it wasn't even one of me! They had my name under it by mistake."

Mrs. Deverell who had just met her grandson, Fredrich J. Wadley III, was all smiles.

"One thing Fred is glad of too," she said, "is that I've told him he's a year younger than he thought he was."

PENSION POINT TO BE TESTED

County Welfare Director Thomas P. Douglas will travel to San Francisco to be present tomorrow at a state welfare board meeting which may determine an important point for all welfare departments in the state.

The state board will hear an appeal from the action of the Orange county board of supervisors, denying an application for old-age security on grounds children are financially able to support the parents.

Douglas was authorized by the supervisors yesterday afternoon to make the trip.

SATURDAY TAX DEADLINE

Deadline for payment of delinquent taxes under the state's 10-payment plan is Saturday noon.

This final warning was given today by County Auditor W. T. Lambert, whose office is in charge of collection of delinquent taxes. After noon Saturday costly penalties will attach to the tax bills.

Property owners have three days to take advantage of the law, which permits refunding by means of the payment plan of all delinquent taxes accrued for the year 1936-37 and earlier, the only charges being for interest at 7 per cent from July 1, 1936.

'Debarked' Dog's Barking Receives Test in Court

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Canvassers started a neighborhood inquiry today to determine whether Gretel, the "debarked" Doberman Pinscher, can bark loud enough to be a nuisance.

Gretel and her mistress, Mrs. Fred Schoepflin, went into court yesterday for the second time in two years upon a neighbor's complaint that Gretel's barking was disturbing.

After hearing Gretel give a hollow grunt for a bark, and neighbors testify both for and against the dog, Judge Charles T. Yeager decided to have the probation department canvass the neighborhood before giving a decision Sept. 22.

Four hundred fifty Orange county Boy Scouts had outings at Camp Ro-Ki-Li, in the San Bernardino mountains, during the summer season just closed, Scout Executive Harrison White reported today.

Almost every troop in the county was represented at the camp, White said.

Only two dates remain for occupancy of the camp this summer. From Aug. 22 to 29 Scouts of the Tustin Presbyterian church will use its facilities, and over the Labor day week-end the American Legion post's Troop 29, with parents of the Scouts, has signed up to use the camp.

Passers of Bad Checks Use Security Cards, Merchants Are Warned by Phil Brown

Social security cards are not proper identification, Santa Ana merchants were warned today after several of them had been victimized by check passers who used social security account numbers to identify themselves.

The warning was issued by Phil M. Brown, secretary of the Business Men's association.

"There is no way for a merchant to check back on a social security account number," Brown emphasized, "since the federal government keeps its information in strict confidence."

Social security numbers, he added, are easily obtained under aliases, false addresses or simply by theft or finding one that has been lost.

Budget Hearing Set Aug. 26 A Senator Takes it Easy

RED TAPE CUT TO SPEED UP LEVEE REPAIRS

A half-million-dollar program of reconstruction for Orange county's flood-shattered Santa Ana river levees got under way today.

County supervisors yesterday afternoon declared a state of emergency to exist—thereby cutting legal red tape and expediting purchase of materials without having to advertise for bids—and appropriated a total of $300,000 to begin work.

Of that amount, $100,000 already had been appropriated and will be taken from the county general fund and put in a special emergency fund to be used for purchase of materials to rebuild the shattered levees before the rainy season sets in.

The other $200,000 will be taken from funds of the flood control district, and will be used for labor and rental of equipment on the project.

Sixteen miles of river levee were washed out in the March 3 flood, and have been badly in need of replacement. State funds have been awaited in vain ever since that date.

COUNTY WINS ANNUAL FIGHT OVER L. A. TAX

Orange county today had won another round in its annual battle against the city of Los Angeles over assessments on the $5,000,000 electric power plant at Seal Beach.

The state board of equalization informed Assessor James Sleeper today that the city of Los Angeles, owner of the plant, had been successful in having reduced by only $6000 the $2,535,160 assessed valuation of machinery in the plant. The city of Seal Beach had a cut of but $80 out of a total assessment of $32,000.

The reduction, reversing the state board's policy set last year, was caused by a new ruling issued by Attorney General C. E. Webb. Webb held that towers and power lines, although the former are anchored into the ground, should be classified as personal property and tax exempt, although tanks merely placed on the ground should be taxed.

Sleeper said he expected the city would file another appeal with the state supreme court, although last year's similar case now is pending before the tribunal. The state board's action in upholding the assessor has gained for Orange county $40,000 in taxes annually.

Sen. Westover to Give Constitution Copies Free

Who wants a copy of the Constitution of the State of California and of the United States? Senator Harry C. Westover is asking the question. During the last session of the legislature, the state printer was authorized to print some copies of the state and federal constitution. Yesterday Senator Westover received a shipment of two hundred copies of the constitution to be distributed in this county.

Aids Boy Who Plotted Death

TO DEFEND ERRANT SON—Clifford Young, 23, left, is under arrest in Paris, Mo., on a charge of plotting to have his father, Nat Young, wealthy 60-year-old farmer, murdered for his $2,500 insurance. Police say the plan collapsed because Clifford was unable to pay four men to do the job. Now the father, right, has hired a lawyer to defend his son.

GAS TRUCK BLAST IN ANAHEIM LEADS TO SUITS FOR $18,000

Explosion of a gasoline tank truck in the Anaheim district last March 31 led today to two superior court damage suits totaling $18,000.

Defendants in the suits are Reese F. and Vernance B. Morgan of Maywood, operators of the Morgan Brothers Tank Truck service which owned the truck.

One suit was filed by John R. Clark, Anaheim district resident. Clark said Lester Luscomb, an employee of the firm, was driving the truck on Ellis avenue between West and Gothard avenues and carelessly caused gasoline to spill from his tank truck and trailer.

When the gasoline burst into flame, Clark said, Luscomb fled without leaving warning signals. Clark said he saw the fire and hurried to warn neighbors whose home apparently was directly in the path of the flames.

As Clark approached the burning truck, he said, one tank exploded, burning his clothing and body. He asks $7500 damages. The other plaintiff is Miss Violet Rogers, 19, who filed suit through her father, L. B. Rogers. She said she was passing along the road and came upon the burning truck without warning just before it exploded. In the blast she suffered serious burns, she alleges in demanding $10,238 damages.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS ADD 3 MEMBERS

Calumpit camp, United Spanish War Veterans, last night elected two men to become members and mustered one of them into camp membership. He was Andrew Nelson, who served as a private in Company F, 23rd U. S. infantry, and had other enlistments and lives at La Mirada. The two elected were Andrew Nelson and Samuel A. Marshall of Santa Ana, who served in Company E, First Nebraska Volunteers, in the Philippine islands.

Frank J. Frowiss of Costa Mesa was reported being in the national headquarters home hospital at East Los Angeles, and Forrest Gay of Santa Ana was reported ill at his home.

Oscar Kurtz applied for a discharge from the camp as a result of a misunderstanding and the request was laid on the table until the next business meeting so that the misunderstanding could be explained to him.

Commander Albert P. Dresser appointed the following comrades as the camp's portion of the next potluck dinner committee for Aug. 23, which is to be held in the Knights of Columbus hall: John W. Hess, Henry Helmer, Charles E. Hyatt, Nevil A. Hopson and Frank H. Judson.

A motion passed, called on the quartermaster, William Brown, to purchase new balls and cubes for the ballot box.

Manager William Brown is completing arrangements for a booth at the Los Angeles county fair, of which he is the manager.

Suit Filed Here On Alimony Order

Suit for $3783 assertedly due under a decree of a Nevada district court was brought today in superior court by Mrs. Callie Ella Horton of Orange county against John F. Horton.

Mrs. Horton alleges her husband filed suit against her in Nevada in 1932, but that she won the case and got a court order for $50 a month for her support. The money was paid, she said, only between April, 1933, and July, 1934. She claims $3300 in payments and $483 in interest still are due.

L. A. Motorist Is Fined $15 Here

Speeding and failure to appear cost Joseph G. Shannon, Los Angeles, $15 in Santa Ana city court yesterday, as Judge J. G. Mitchell had a quiet court session.

W. J. Stauffer paid $2 for Thelma Stauffer paid $1 for overtime parking.

BOARD WARNED AGAINST RISE IN TAXATION

Public hearing on Orange county's record $2,000,000 county budget for 1938-39 had been set today for a week from Friday, Aug. 26.

At that time citizens may appear to approve or protest the budget requests set up for the fiscal year, which at present call for an estimated tax rate of $1.02 for property inside cities and $1.06 outside—an increase of 26 per cent over last year's taxes.

At the same time supervisors set the hearing date yesterday afternoon they received their first protest of the year.

H. B. Woodward, 2315 Riverside drive, Santa Ana, protested in a letter against the "reputation of Orange county for repeated increases in taxes," and warned that continued increases might drive away prospective home owners and force others to lose their homes. He asked that the budget be retained as it was last year, and requested supervisors to increase no funds except those of the health department.

State law calls for the budget to be adopted on or before Aug. 30, but since that date is election day this year, supervisors may meet Wednesday, Aug. 31, to adopt the budget. The tax rate, practically automatic when the budget is adopted, must be fixed on or before Sept. 1.

SONS OF UNION VETERANS DINE ON CHICKEN

Commander Perry Grout of Santa Ana camp No. 13, Sons of Union Veterans, was host to his officers at a chicken dinner in the Home cafe last night. Special guests were Commander George D. Campbell of Sedgewick Post 17, Grant Army of the Republic, and Mrs. Campbell.

Officers present were C. C. Cozard, sr., vice commander; E. A. Bell and C. E. Brayton, members of the camp council; J. R. Moore secretary; E. J. Parker, treasurer; Earl Elliott chaplain; C. F. Millen, Elliott chaplain; W. I. Davis, guide; and J. H. Mitchell, guard.

E. J. Parker and C. C. Cozard will represent the Santa Ana camp at the national encampment in Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 4-8.

A picnic and steak bake will be held at Irvine park on Aug. 28, with Daughters of Union Veterans invited.

Rancher-Candidate For Senate Coming

Philip Bancroft, Walnut Creek rancher and Republican candidate for United States senator, will be here Saturday to wind up his swing through the southern counties before the Aug. 30 primary election.

Bancroft will speak at a noon meeting in Orange, according to a scheduled release by his campaign headquarters.

McAdoo to Speak Here Saturday

Senator W. G. McAdoo will speak twice in Santa Ana Saturday.

The senator and Mrs. McAdoo will be guests of a Democratic welcoming committee in a 6:30 dinner in the social hall of the First Christian church. Following the banquet, Senator McAdoo will speak again in Birch park at 7:30 p. m.

Monument Stands Where Rogers And Post Were Killed

BARROW, Alaska. (AP)—A pink granite monument which some day may be Alaska's "farthest north" air beacon stood today on the site where three years ago Will Rogers and Wiley Post, famed humorist and flier, were killed in an airplane crash.

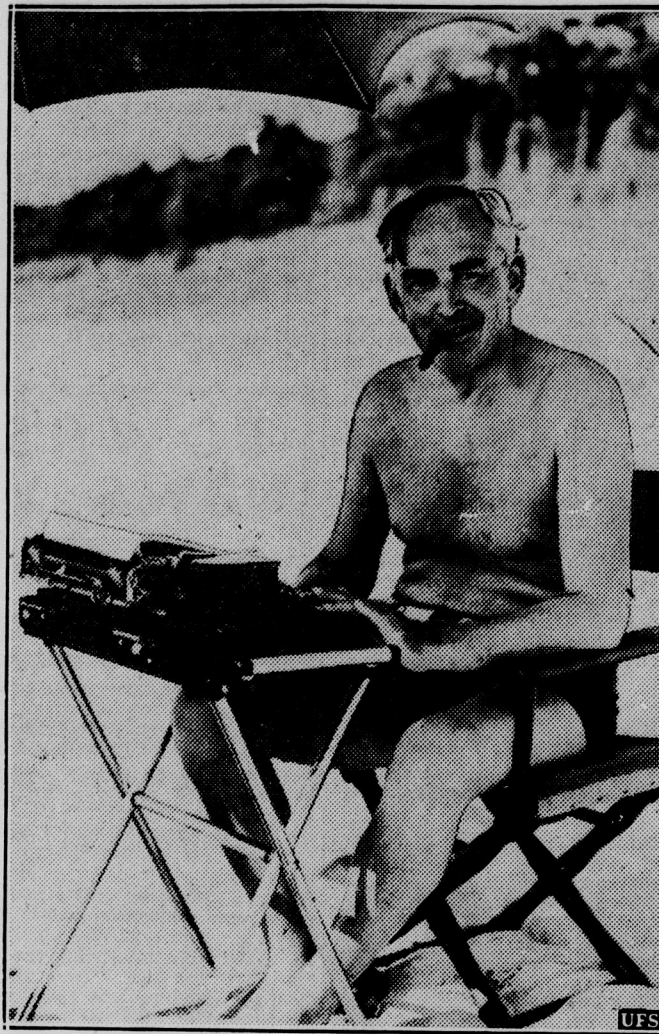

The monument was dedicated Monday evening, with flares and fog flitting about the obelisk as 300 whites and natives sang songs and heard eulogies by Texas and Oklahoma representatives.

A telegram from Mrs. Wiley Post stated she regretted she was unable to attend.

Oldest U. S. Dance Master Dead at 76

CHICAGO. (AP)—Frederick W. Kohl, 76, of Madison, Wis., reputedly the oldest active dancing master in the nation, died today of a heart ailment.

He was dancing master for 58 years and at one time operated dancing schools in more than 50 cities.

WITH HIS COAT OFF—This is how United States Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, Republican, gets down to work, even though it's his vacation. He is shown on the beach at his summer home on Lake Michigan, not far from Grand Rapids. The Senator is one of the leading anti-New Dealers and has been mentioned as a 1940 Presidential candidate.

ONLY ONE DAY'S ALLOWANCE FOR MILEAGE PROVIDED IN LAW

Mrs. Leonard Swales of Santa Ana, member of a jury which found itself discharged Monday night with only one day's mileage fees after a three-day trial, was just unlucky.

Her jury panel happened to be the first in Orange county history to be "caught" on a provision which has been in state law for years.

For many years litigants have paid not only regular per diem jury fees, but 15 cents per mile one way from home for every day jurors have attended in trial of civil cases.

Monday night attorneys in one case refused to pay more than one day's fees, under provisions of the county salary ordinance. Mrs. Swales, finding herself with 15 cents instead of 45, descended on supervisors yesterday, wanting to know "if we are supposed to walk."

Deputy Dist. Atty. J. E. Walker explained it to the county board yesterday afternoon. The one-day limit on mileage, he said, is not only in the salary ordinance but is a direct copy from state law. The only reason jurors ever got more was that it was a custom, which may cease abruptly when litigants and their attorneys find out that's all it was.

Wesley Ketchell, Beaten, Files Suit

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Wesley Ketchell, boxer, pounded out plenty of punishment in the ring five years or so ago, but he was no match for a doorman at a beauty shop, he asserted today in a complaint for damages filed in superior court. Ketchell demands $10,675 from the Westmore beauty shops, asserting that he was struck and cut by the doorman.

ACTRESS NUN ON WEDDING HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Frances Drake, brunet screen actress, smilingly declined to confirm or deny today reports she is engaged to Cecil J. A. Howard, son of the Countess of Suffolk.

Railless Bridges Cost County $900

DENVER. (AP)—Ernest Ramstetter's cows had to pass over railless bridges en route to pasture.

Ramstetter said they became frightened and dizzy, fell into a creek and were injured. He presented a bill to the city fathers. The water department paid him $900—and ordered railings placed on the bridges.

MEXICAN PUPILS RIOT MEXICO CITY. (AP)—One youth was shot in the head, and two other boys and a girl were seriously hurt in a fight between University of Mexico extension students and rival students of a vocational school.

What New Tax Means to You

If you own a modest $8000 home in Santa Ana, you paid $153 in taxes on it last year—but you'll pay $168 during the next year, and that doesn't include special assessments!

This will total taxes—for the city, county, school and other districts covering the whole city—soar upward 10 per cent when local budgets finally are adopted and tax rates set.

During fiscal 1938, Santa Ana property owners paid a total of $5.10 on each $100 of assessed valuation. During the coming year, they stand to pay $5.60.

Last of the various budgets, that for the city of Santa Ana, was released Monday night and called for a 21-cent (13 per cent) increase. The county's budget, still to be adopted, calls for another 21-cent increase to $1.02 for Santa Anans, and the flood control district rate has jumped from 10 cents to 24 cents. Partial compensation for the increases comes from the board of education, whose 1938-39 budget will cut the total school rate from $2.17 to either $2.10 or $2.11.

When the tax collector sends his bill to you, you can figure that each $100 you pay him in taxes will be divided like this:

The board of education will get $37.68 to be divided among the various city schools.

The city will get $32.14 for government operation and bond retirement.

The county will get $18.21. The metropolitan water district will get $7.14.

The county flood control district will get $4.28, for bond retirement.

The county harbor district will get 35 cents for bond retirement.

The cemetery district will get 18 cents for bond retirement.

With county, city and flood control taxes climbing sharply, their proportionate share of the tax dollar goes up, and the schools' share falls from 42.55 per cent to 37.68 per cent.

The 1937-38 tax dollar was divided as follows: 42.55 cents for schools, 31.18 cents for the city, 15.88 cents for the county, 7.84 cents for the MWD, 1.96 cents for flood control, .39 cent for harbor bonds, .20 cent for cemetery bonds.

FLOOD CHECK PROJECTS GO BEFORE BOARD

Two abandoned flood control projects, one lopped off because a lobbyist was hired and the other abandoned in favor of river levee reconstruction, returned briefly to haunt county supervisors yesterday afternoon.

PWA formally offered the county $9316 for a 45 per cent grant for the $25,000 East Ichfield storm drain. The offer was laid aside without comment, supervisors having decided to abandon all other work in favor of the levee work.

B. B. Twyman of Los Angeles, secretary of the Association of Humane Officers of Southern California, wrote the board to inquire about status of the $148,000 Laguna canyon storm drain. He will receive a letter telling him that the project "has been held up in Washington," which it was by PWA Administrator Harold Ickes because supervisors paid $1000 last year to Glenn E. Miller, who lately has become persona non grata with PWA.

Chinese to Face Charge in Mexico

Lee Now, Chinese resident of Mexicali, Mexico, was sent back to Mexico where he will stand trial on charges of murdering a Chinese acquaintance, it was learned today following his arrest by Federal Immigration Inspector Franklin Davis.

Davis arrested Now on illegal entry charges and sent him to Mexico on request of Mexican authorities. He said he had no detailed information on the murder charge facing the man.

A. T. & T. DIVIDEND NEW YORK. (AP)—Directors of American Telephone and Telegraph company today declared the regular quarterly dividend of $2.25 a share of capital stock, payable Oct. 15 to holders of record Sept. 15.

Santa Ana Flier Ordered to Duty on Carrier Lexington

Reaching the maximum number of flying necessary to get "his wings," Charles Roemer, 21, Santa Ana Junior college associated student body president in 1935, was ordered to the United States' airplane carrier, the Lexington, as flying cadet, according to word received by his parents, Fire Capt. and Mrs. Charles H. Roemer, 111 W. Highland street.

Stationed at Pensacola, Fla., for the past year, Roemer wrote that he had 13 hours left in the air before he completes the year's training in the navy's air school.

Before taking his new post on the airplane carrier, Roemer will have 30 days of furlough with his parents.

Knowledge Helps Orange Growers

Too much water or too little; the wrong kind of fertilizer; irrigation water with harmful alkali salts—these are three things which make the difference between failure and success in the citrus industry, according to Joe Haynes, who, with H. I. Boyer, conducts the Orchard Service Laboratory at Tustin. These men, through their scientific methods of soil and water analysis have helped many an Orange county citrus grower become prosperous instead of winding up a failure.

The Orchard Service Laboratory offers a consultation service to orchard owners. Soil of the grove is analyzed to determine how much water is needed and when it should be applied, to detect what type of fertilizer is needed and how much should be applied at various times. The irrigation water is also analyzed to see if it contains any injurious alkali salts which must be neutralized before it is used. After a survey by Mr. Haynes and Mr. Boyer—that is, if their recommendations are carried out explicitly—the citrus grower can be confident that his crop will be both plentiful and of good quality. The laboratory's phone number is Santa Ana 5437.

Dave Hutton Asks Suit Be Stricken

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Since a $9000 damage suit has been on file against him for five years and nothing further done about it, Dave Hutton, singer and former husband of Aimee Semple McPherson, asked today that it be stricken from the court records.

Noland Tucker, former Angelus temple orchestra leader, filed the action, claiming Hutton threatened to strike him with his fist and spoke to him abusively.

FEWELL CONCRETE PIPE FIRM IN BUSINESS OVER 30 YEARS

Orange county's largest independent manufacturers of concrete pipe is the position owned by the Fewell Concrete Pipe Co., of Garden Grove. This firm, which consists of A. V. Fewell and L. L. Dobkins, have had over 30 years, experience in this line, and this long experience has enabled them to turn out a product which stands far above that produced by competitors.

Products manufactured by the company include concrete pipe of all sizes for irrigation purposes, gates and valves and septic tanks. They deliver and install all pipe sold. In their Garden Grove plant they have the latest and most advanced machinery for the production of concrete pipe. The possession of such equipment speeds up production and lowers the cost to the consumer.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS
By WALTER R. ROBB
(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

It will be pleasing news to Orange county Townsends that William R. Cogswell, San Bernardino Sun advertising manager, has been selected as deputy national representative of the Townsend National Recovery Plan, Inc., for the 19th congressional district. Cogswell was a candidate for the Republican party endorsement to congress for this district in its grass roots convention held in Riverside on April 23, 1933. When he found that receiving the endorsement was impossible he withdrew and asked that his supporters give their strength to Mayor C. T. Johnson who was also a Townsend plan supporter. When the firework of the convention was over it was found that Mayor Johnson had won and later in the Townsend convention also held in Riverside, he was again endorsed. Cogswell played an important part in helping make the result possible. His work as a Townsend speaker in the district has won him many friends in this county who will consider his appointment a wise one.

The above announcement will give a basis for understanding the following letter which I received from Cogswell Monday morning of this week, too late to keep the appointment to meet him in the Fullerton Townsend mass meeting last Sunday evening. The letter follows and is self-explanatory.

"By authority vested in me as deputy national representative of the Townsend National Recovery Plan, Inc., for the 19th California congressional district, I do hereby and herewith appoint you as county organizer and also manager of the Orange county Townsend speaker's bureau effective immediately.

"I will be in Fullerton next Sunday at the mass meeting and would be very glad to have a short conference with you on immediate plans of action which we believe necessary to inaugurate for the promotion of this great recovery plan.

"Trusting you will accept the appointment tendered, which I assure you will give me a great deal of personal satisfaction and pleasure, and with the assurance that

He wishes to make it plain that all parties wanting to make arrangements for speakers and those wishing other information must do so at his home and over his own telephone at his residence. He wants it understood that he cannot spend time talking over critical matters. Townsend business engagements with him must be made as brief as possible so that his duties connected with the writing of this column can also be done of evenings, as has heretofore been true.

He will be glad to be of service in every way possible and will endeavor to at all times be courteous but will positively refuse to discuss Townsend business over the telephone or otherwise from the office where he is employed. Don't expect him to violate this rule as he will not do it. His telephone is listed under his own name in the telephone book and is numbered Santa Ana No. 4691. All mail should be addressed to Walter R. Robb, lockbox 441. Please remember that.

The big objective of the Townsend movement, the nation ever has been and will continue to be the getting of the Townsend plan enacted into law. All clubs of the district will do well to keep that fact in mind and perform as organization units to continuously enlarge their memberships with the purpose of making our voting strength the stronger. It will be by added members who are converted to the practicality of the Townsend plan that we shall eventually succeed. The writer

Old Furniture Made Modern

No longer need ugly, out-of-date furniture be relegated to the attic or given to the junk man, for now these reminders of a cruder era may be made, Cinderella-like, into swanky, up-to-the-minute furnishings which the most critical would admire. This is made possible through the work of such firms as S. M. Johnson, Upholsterers, 1330 West 5th street, Santa Ana. This studio takes the ugly duckling of furniture and makes pieces of them which vie with the fabled swans in beauty.

The modernizing of old-fashioned furniture is only one of the specialties of the Johnson organization. Another is the restoration of valuable antiques to their former prime glory. Many of Orange county's most famous antiques have been restored by Mrs. S. M. Johnson and her staff.

RUBY KEELER IN FILM ROLE

Ruby Keeler steps into her first straight dramatic role in "Mother Carey's Chickens," a film version of the book by Kate Douglas Wiggin, which opens today at the Broadway theater with "Sky Giant," air drama starring Richard Dix.

According to advance notices, "Mother Carey's Chickens" bubbles with humor and naturalness that made the original story one of the best-sellers of its day.

The rivalry between a famous pilot and a student flier over a girl, forms the romantic basis of "Sky Giant," new picture of modern aviation. With Richard Dix sharing honors with Chester Morris and Joan Fontaine, the film is laid against a background of a flying school. Harry Carey and Paul Guilfoyle play the chief supporting roles.

Santa Ana club No. 3 met last Thursday morning in Townsend hall on West Fourth street with an audience present that numbered approximately 150 people. Senator Nathan Hale of Los Angeles was the speaker and is reported to have made a most splendid address. This club will meet again at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening with Phillip S. Doolittle, president in charge and business meeting to be transacted will be consummated.

George Vose, national Townsend representative and Dr. Joseph Warneck and wife, who have been in the 19th district for sometime, have returned to their homes in Michigan for a couple of weeks.

Rallies Fail As Stars Upset, 1-0

OILERS START ERRINGTON VS. ANAHEIM

Predictions were freely made today that the four-out-of-seven-game playoff between Santa Ana's Stars and San Bernardino's Ponies will develop into one of the closest races in National Nightball league annals.

Introducing a new pitcher, a six-two right-hander by the name of "Bud" Mayer who fanned 11 Stars, San Bernardino shut out Santa Ana, 1 to 0, here last night to again revenge for a 14-inning, 4-3 defeat from the Stars in Los Angeles Sunday night.

AT COLTON THURSDAY
Third game of the series will be played at Colton Thursday night, and the fourth game here next Monday night. San Bernardino plays all home games at Colton.

Meanwhile, Joe Rodgers' Huntington Beach Oilers and Anaheim's Valencians will resume their four-out-of-seven game series at Huntington Beach tonight. Rodgers said he would start "Fuzzy" Errington instead of Venn Bolls in the 8 o'clock clash. Huntington Beach won the first game by the alarming score of 9-0 Sunday night.

Stan Jacobsmeyer and Mayor put on a pitcher's battle, each allowing only five scattered hits over the nine-inning route. The Stars were in scoring position three different times, but failed to come through.

San Bernardino pushed across the winning run on two hits and an error in the sixth. Catcher Welch, first up, singled to center. Mayor popped up to the catcher, but Welch kept the rally alive with a single to second. "Red" Andrews gained first when Bob Mott juggled the ball, leading the bases. Welch scored after Ray Short's catch of Stock's fly to centerfield.

THREATENED IN FIFTH
Short doubled with two away in the third, but was left stranded. Short reached as far as third in the eighth with only one away, but the Stars could not bring him in.

"Doc" Smith handled five chances flawlessly at shortstop, coming up with a beautiful play on Welch's grounder in the seventh.

Hartnett's Powers Unlimited With Cubs, Says Wrigley

CHICAGO. (AP)—Leo "Gabby" Hartnett, who will have managed the Chicago Cubs a month come Saturday, had a pat on the back today to go with his recent sock on the thumb.

The pat came from Owner P. K. Wrigley who said: "I told Gabby he has shown me that he can be relied on to handle the team in every way and assured him that he is free to dispose of any or all players on the roster."

"Naturally, I told him the front office must pass on large expenditures, but that there is money in the treasury and that he will be supported by a bankroll when he decides when, how and if he wants to alter the ball club."

The conference was the first of any length between the two since the catcher, for 17 years a member of the club, was appointed to succeed Charley Grimm as manager July 20.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

By The Associated Press
Bill Brubaker, Pirates—Broke into lineup at first base with two-run homer and pair of singles to lead way in 10-0 rout of Reds.

Lefty Gomez, Yankees—Gomez and Lou Gehrig, Yankees—Gomez and Ruffing each pitched six-hit ball to turn back Senators, 16-1 and 6-2; Gehrig helped Gomez win with homer and double in one inning, as well as two singles.

Goody Rosen, Dodgers—Paced 12-hit attack that brought 7-3 triumph over Giants, scoring tying run in eighth and driving home deciding tallies with third safety in ninth.

Ace Parker, Athletics—Drove in four runs with three singles as A's outscored Red Sox, 14-11.

ADD THIS TO ODDITIES OF NIGHTBALL SEASON!

Talk about your photo finish! Only three points separated four members of Santa Ana's Stars in National Nightball league.

Official averages: Fred Wiemer, .295; Bris Richardson, .294; Stan Jacobsmeyer, .293; and Joe Koral, .292. These players, of course, did not figure in the race for the batting championships, but their marks were far above many of their rivals.

Congratulations are due Nan Coots on his splendid percentage of .404, which won the hitting title. . . . The former Santa Ana was the mainstay of the Whittier club that remained in the cellar all season, yet kept spirits high and never considered withdrawal from the league.

Manager "Doc" Smith and First Baseman Bob Mott had 50 cents at stake in a bet they made at mid-season. Smith, struggling under the 200 mark, wagered he would overtake Mott, who at that time sported a percentage well over 300. . . . "Doc" didn't miss his goal very far, at that. . . . He finished with a .272 rating to Mott's .273.

LOSS OF MERLE HAPES BLOW TO DONS, YET—
Garden Grove's flashy halfback, Merle Hapes, was being counted on heavily to bolster Santa Ana Jays' backfield in the Eastern conference this fall, but his loss does not mean our Dons will be weak in this department.

With Hapes definitely deciding to enroll at the University of Mississippi (Choice No. 1) or University of Oregon (Choice No. 2), such lads as Co-Capt. Larry Timken, halfback, and Art Heinisch, the burly fullback from Minnesota. . . . If Heinisch comes through, Cook's worries will be lightened. . . . He knows what Timken can do.

There are numerous other backs headed this way next month, but Cook and Ward are holding their breath until registration is over.

YANKEES BOSS PLANS TO KEEP POWELL IN LEFT
Eastern scribes have quoted Manager Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees as declaring he will continue to play Jake Powell in left field against southern pitching "if they throw a million pop bottles at him."

Powell was greeted by a barrage of bottles in Washington yesterday, when he returned to the lineup after a 10-day suspension imposed by Commissioner K. M. Landis for remarks in an informal radio interview recently which aroused negro resentment.

Shady Dick Barrett in a pitchers' duel to blank Seattle, 1 to 0. Freitas limited Seattle batters to two scattered hits and fanned five while Barrett whiffed eight batters, but allowed six hits, two of them in the first inning which coupled with a Seattle error allowed the Senators to score.

Ed Stutz hauled the San Francisco Seals to a 3-to-0 win over the wavering Portland Beavers. Three hits were the best the Beavers could collect from Stutz' offerings while Harley Boss and Dominic DiMaggio sparked a 12-hit attack on a pair of Portland pitchers.

Los Angeles took it on the chin when Dominic Dallesandro, San Diego outfielder, smashed a homer in the first of the ninth with two away and two on base to give San Diego a 6-to-4 win.

Home runs, weakened in the ninth inning to give up four hits, a walk and three runs which enabled the Hollywood Stars to overcome an Oakland lead and win, 5 to 3.

Ho, Hum! Softball Teams in Chicago Play 100 Innings
CHICAGO. (AP)—Ho, hum! The marathonman started by the long distance golfer, J. Smith Ferebee, who played 144 holes between dawn and dusk, has struck the softballers.

Two teams, the Kline All-Stars and the Spiders of suburban Roseville, are matched to play 100 innings next Sunday between 8 a. m., and sometime that night.

Two pitchers, a gent named Sadowski, of the Klines, and Erik of the Spiders, declared they would go the distance. The two clubs may stick it out, for they each have 15 players available, but the pitchers may show signs of collapse come the middle of the night.

Two Ace Jockeys Severely Injured
CHICAGO. (AP)—Two jockeys rested in a Chicago Heights hospital today, one in a serious condition, after the worst split of the season at the Washington Park race track.

Clayton Perkins, Cairo, Neb., suffered a brain concussion and may have received a fractured skull in the second race yesterday. Usay, his mount, fell and threw him as the field turned into the stretch.

Eugene Myers of Chicago, astride Blanch G., which was just behind Usay, received a broken collar bone when his mount also went down.

President's Cup Monday; Kerley, Robinson Score
First round in the annual President's cup golf tournament at the Santa Ana Country club will be played Aug. 22 to 27, and all entries should be filed not later than Sunday, Roy Renwick, club pro, announced today.

Mrs. L. H. Robinson captured Class A medal play for women golfers yesterday with a score of 90-11-19. Runner-up was Mrs. Harry Bakke, 89-7-82.

Class B medal play was won by Mrs. D. R. Kerley, 105-17-88; with second, 112-20-92.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Batting—Lombardi, Cincinnati, .349; McCormick, Cincinnati, and Vaughan, Pittsburgh, .333.

BOYS' NINES IN GAMES TONIGHT
Four clubs in the Santa Ana Junior and Senior softball leagues go under the arcs in the Municipal bowl tonight.

Leading off with the Junior League for the first, will be the Traffic Squad battles Alliance Life at 7 o'clock. In the Senior League, Scott's Malt's hook up with the leading All's Lock and Key shop nine at 8:15.

Games also are scheduled for tomorrow morning in both Junior and Senior divisions, Friday morning and a double-header Friday night in the bowl.

Friday Nips Young In Midget eFuture
LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Fred Friday forgot about past fistfights with Karl Young last night long enough to defeat his rival easily in the 40-lap midget auto race at Atlantic speedway.

Taking the pole from Young at the first turn, Friday dashed across the finish line in 10 minutes 50.1 seconds. Young was 10 yards behind.

LIONETTES IN GAME WITH L. A. TONIGHT

Perched atop the Major Girls Softball league standings with only a half game difference between them and Young's Market, Orange's Lionettes will send Lois Terry to the mound against Los Angeles' Perfection bakery's "upset girls" in a league assignment at Orange's diamond at 8 o'clock tonight.

Since taking over the loop's leadership, the Lionettes have suffered a minor batting slump, which they hope was partially shaken Monday night when they pounded out 17 hits off a San Pedro club.

Perfection, which is the most improved club in the circuit, will have Virginia Gillen, the spin-ball artist, on the mound with Duncan as her battery-mate. Melita Forster will catch Terry for Orange.

Triumphs 3-2 and 3-0 over Bank of America and Columbia Pictures recently are Perfection's two prized victories.

The Lionettes take on Young's Market at Fairfax field Friday night.

SOLONS BLANK TRIBE 1-0, PRESS ANGELS

By The Associated Press
High class pitching performances sparked in the Pacific Coast league race last night as the Sacramento Solons moved to within a game and a half of the circuit leading Los Angeles Angels.

Tony Freitas of the Senators shaded Dick Barrett in a pitchers' duel to blank Seattle, 1 to 0. Freitas limited Seattle batters to two scattered hits and fanned five while Barrett whiffed eight batters, but allowed six hits, two of them in the first inning which coupled with a Seattle error allowed the Senators to score.

Ed Stutz hauled the San Francisco Seals to a 3-to-0 win over the wavering Portland Beavers. Three hits were the best the Beavers could collect from Stutz' offerings while Harley Boss and Dominic DiMaggio sparked a 12-hit attack on a pair of Portland pitchers.

Los Angeles took it on the chin when Dominic Dallesandro, San Diego outfielder, smashed a homer in the first of the ninth with two away and two on base to give San Diego a 6-to-4 win.

Home runs, weakened in the ninth inning to give up four hits, a walk and three runs which enabled the Hollywood Stars to overcome an Oakland lead and win, 5 to 3.

Long-Shot Lou Defends Crown

YANKEES FLASH CHAMPIONSHIP FORM, LEAD BY EIGHT GAMES; PITTSBURGH GAINS ON GIANTS

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
The New York Yankees, a team of one-man tradition, are pulling together now, and as a result they're quite likely to win the American league pennant by a margin big enough to satisfy even Col. Jacob Ruppert.

The colonel isn't satisfied while there's another club within shouting distance of his Yanks.

It used to be "As Ruth goes, so go the Yankees." Then Joe DiMaggio had his turn at "sparkling" them. This season, they're just a fine ball club that appears unbeatable, now that everyone has started playing championship ball at once.

The Yank mound corps was good enough to keep them in the running while the hitters weren't doing so well. Now they're still able to refute the old argument that the Yanks merely overpower the opposition, even though there's plenty of overpowering being done.

Lefty Gomez and Charley Ruffing didn't need all the runs they got yesterday to dispose of the fourth-place Washington Senators. They pitched a pair of six-hitters to a glass shower that ended with 16-1 and 6-2.

Jake Powell, back from the 10-day suspension that resulted from his remarks during a radio interview, also probably could have dispensed with a few pop bottles that came his way. He was subjected to a glass shower that caused a five-minute delay so the field could be cleared during the second game.

The Yankees had a nine-run fourth inning in the opener, and DiMaggio and Lou Gehrig hit homers.

The twin triumph stretched New York's lead to eight games as Cleveland took a single contest from the St. Louis Browns, 9-6, to give Mel Harder his 10th mound victory. The Athletics drove Boston's Red Sox still deeper into third, beating them 14-11 after belting Jim Bagby for five runs in the first and Dick Midkiff for five in the sixth. Two homers by Jimmy Foss couldn't make up for those two innings. The Chicago White Sox-Detroit clash was rained out.

Manager Pie Traynor of Pittsburgh decided to give some of his weary Pirates a rest and benched Gus Suhr and Al Todd in favor of Bill Brubaker and Ray Berres. Brubaker made three hits, including a homer, and the Buccs wallowed Cincinnati 10-0 to stretch their National league lead to five games.

Brooklyn's Dodgers beat the second-place New York Giants for the second time in 12 encounters, 7 to 3, combining Harry Gumbert and Eddie Coffman for five hits and four runs in the ninth. Chicago's Cubs split a twin bill with the St. Louis Cardinals, winning the opener 5-4 in 11 innings on Frank Demaree's triple, then losing the second to Curt Davis, 5-2.

Another 11-inning struggle saw the Phillies beat the Boston Bees 7-6 when Chuck Klein singled home Herschel Martin with the winning run.

NEGRO SEEKS THIRD TITLE IN NEW YORK

By GAYLE TALBOT
(Tonight's fight will be broadcast over KECA, Los Angeles, at 6 o'clock, Orange county time.)

NEW YORK. (AP)—If they don't melt down and run off in a puddle, Henry Armstrong and Lou Ambers will gang up on each other for 15 rounds in Madison Square Garden tonight, with Ambers' 135-pound title at stake.

It promises to be a hot event, with upward of 15,000 onlookers stuck to their seats in the big Eighth avenue emporium.

One thing is certain: Rain cannot interfere with the festivities as it did Wednesday night at the Polo grounds, when Promoter Mike Jacobs swallowed a $10,000 installation loss and hoped he could get it back indoors.

The postponement has not affected the betting odds. The men with talking money still are offering up to 3-to-1 that Armstrong leaves the ring the holder of the featherweight, lightweight and welterweight championships, the first triple-padded crown wearer in boxing history.

If Ambers should win, however, is convinced that the up-state Italian will out-leg and out-punch the phenomenal little negro and retain his title, "srupting" Armstrong's run of 38 consecutive victories.

Ambers should win, he will not be recognized as the welterweight champion in New York state. The commission pulled the rival managers and Promoter Jacobs in on the carpet yesterday and made them sign an addendum to the original contract, stipulating that "no title except the lightweight is at stake."

Regardless of that, Ambers will, of course, claim the 147-pound throne if he wins, and there will be widespread confusion, because the National Boxing association has served advance notice that it will recognize his claim.

TICKET SALE INCREASES
Nothing of moment has happened to either fighter since they weighed in a week ago, Ambers at 135 and Armstrong at 133½. The respite, however, gave a cut at the side of Armstrong's mouth a chance to heal.

Jacobs claims the postponement has increased the ticket sale and that there will be $100,000 in the house tonight. More conservative estimates, based on the heat and a rousing indifference on the part of many fans, say the scrap will be lucky to do $75,000.

The outcome, in the opinion of most critics, still simmers down to the question of Ambers' ability to travel 15 rounds at the terrific pace habitually set by Armstrong. And, of course, his luck in dodging Henry's hammering fists during that time.

ROGER SHERMAN... A self-educated man, Roger Sherman, early American legislator and jurist, personally had more to do with the creation of the United States' governmental system than any other one man. Strange as it seems, Sherman alone signed the four great documents of American formative history--the Articles of Association, in 1774; the Declaration of Independence, in 1776; the Articles of Confederation, in 1778; and the Federal Constitution, in 1784. Similarly, Benjamin Franklin was the only signer of another set of four important documents in early American history. Like Sherman, he had the honor of affixing his signature to the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution, and he also signed the Treaty of Alliance with France and the Treaty of Peace with England. No other man signed all four of these documents.

Men In the Dark

Ever since those college professors came out of their cave a few weeks back and said they couldn't quite adapt themselves to a 28-hour day, a lot of folks have wondered just how hard they tried—and why.

In a cave, it is true, a day may be as long or as short as the cave-dweller desires it to be. The professors chose 28 hours for their time period, but someone else, not so learned perhaps, might with equal cause seek a 22-hour day or a 20-hour day.

The professors tried to adapt their habits of thought and living to a time period divided somewhat in this wise: Ten hours for sleep, eight hours for work and 10 hours for recreation.

Offhand, that would seem like a fairly reasonable schedule. Still it wouldn't work. Long years of habit in arising at about a certain time, remaining active for about so many hours, and getting sleepy and going to bed at about such a time made the 28-hour arrangement entirely unworkable, one of the academicians reported. The other did slightly better with it.

If the professors go back to their cave to have another go at it, here's a memorandum to them to try a day of 10 hours of sleep and 10 hours of recreation. What in the samhill kind of work is there to do in a cave, anyway?

Andrew Carnegie, foe of organized labor, tried to square himself by spending $300,000,000 for libraries for American cities. D'ye suppose Tom Girdler intends to give every American city a jaguar?

Unwired for Sound

Just as wire-tapping to gain evidence was about to join the third degree (officially) as a device not to be sanctioned under the American Bill of Rights, along comes word of a wireless eavesdropper that can be concealed under a sofa pillow, an inkstand, a magazine or an ashtray. The little gadget, which has not yet been approved or indorsed by the ladies' magazines, promises all kinds of new excitements and adventures, and what a great new field it opens up for the fiction writers!

For police work, according to the rumored advance word, the new invisible radio transmitter, about the size of a quarter, can be installed in any convenient place, and detectives can sit a block away and listen to a clandestine or incriminating conversation.

What seemed like merely a passing fad a while back, the vogue for glass houses and glass office partitions, may, with this impetus, develop into something like a national institution. If the automatic eavesdroppers become common, even transparent furniture, fixtures, bric-a-brac and even clothes may become the rage.

Boy, what is that down there by the far leg of that desk; a quarter?

"I appeal to the plain people," declares a candidate for congress. Shrewd politics. God must love the plain people. He made so many of them, said Lincoln.

Modern Mythology

Having no sea serpents to hold their interest during the warmly enjoyable summer season, apparently, at least some of the residents of the British isles are belaboring each other academically over the question of whether green peas 4000 years old have sprouted and grown into a fine and succulent table dish this summer.

Archaeologists and agriculturists, both professional and amateur, are excited about the question. Having no proof positive, they have sidetracked the issue to one in which wheat was actually grown from wheat grains found in the caskets of Egyptian mummies.

But, says the Manchester Guardian, "The explanation of the matter is that the halls of ancient tombs as well as stone sarcophagi and wooden coffins, from ancient times downward, have been used to store grain, and grain has also been used as packing for mummies. This quite modern seed has filtered through into ancient coffins and, of course, germinates easily."

It's all very interesting, but—and maybe this is just a matter of national taste—we prefer the subject of sea serpents. By the way, where have they all gone? None has been reported for a week at least.

Scientists of McGill university decide that the northern lights don't sing, as claimed. Whoopee! Then they won't get on the radio.

Sure, We're Free

We see that Mr. Mussolini has put a stop to the campaign of the Fascist editor, Virginio Gayda, for freedom of male Italian necks. II Duce's order is brief and to the point: "Drop that silly idea of no collars and ties."

So the men of Italy, who had begun to enjoy the comfort of open, tieless shirts, will now meekly put their Adam's apples back in bondage.

Thank fortune, we have a democracy, and no dictator can order us to wear collars and ties. We wear 'em, of course, but that's only because, in this land of liberty and individualism, we don't want to look "different."

Doctors doubtless will admit they are a trust in one respect, namely, they trust too many patients for the bill.

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK.—Sherman Minton, the New Deal senator from Indiana, made a speech to the American Press society Saturday in defense of his proposal to muzzle the press under a pretense of penalizing those who knowingly publish untruths.

There was an interesting play about 20 years ago called "Nothing But the Truth" which thoroughly proved that it is impossible for any human being to avoid telling a deliberate lie in the course of a normal day's intercourse with his fellowmen. United States senators were not specifically dealt with in the play but were included by implication.

Liars Protected
However, the play would have digressed to point out that the group of which Senator Minton is a member, the body of lawmakers in this country, is the only element in our society that requires a special law to permit such men as Mr. Minton to lie wantonly, lie closely and scurrilously without fear of any penalty. And it need not be pointed out, either, that the members of this group have liberally availed themselves of this privilege, often to the great injury of innocent citizens and groups, in utterances which they knew to be complete lies and which they would not have dared repeat in premises where their parliamentary privilege to lie and slander would not stand between them and legal punishment.

"I suggested," he said, in explanation of his attempt to muzzle the press for opposition to the reorganization bill, "that to print a lie wilfully and knowingly should be as great a crime as selling poison food or selling fake stocks."

There are penalties already, however, for the wilful publication of false information in most circumstances. But Senator Minton personally enjoys a right not only to tell lies on the floor but to publish them in The Congressional Record, a document so mendacious, scurrilous and slanderous that the press which he attacks for lying long ago learned to quote from it only with extreme caution lest culpable libel be done. It is recognized in the newspaper business that, because the members of congress have and exercise a right to lie and to publish their lies in the record, the record is a dangerous source of direct or even of indirect quote.

The lay press enjoys no such immunity as that which protects the senators and congressmen and the little family journal that they employ to give wider and more permanent circulation to their lies than they may care to utter in word and wanton violation of the known truth. Senator Minton and his colleagues in the legislative bodies, alone of all the American nation, are privileged to lie without restraint, and to say that they do not overwork the privilege would be to print a lie wilfully and knowingly—a very serious offense in the senator's view.

A Free Tongue
"I do not believe that the constitution or those who framed it ever intended it to be used as a defense for the liar and slanderer," said Minton. "And to this I would add, in very serious vein, that the theory of congressional immunity was not intended for that purpose either. It was intended to give the statesman a free tongue in the expression of views and information they believed to be true, on the sadly discredited theory that they would bring to their office the honesty, courage and character which that privilege bespoke. And, now, if Senator Minton will suggest how he and his colleagues can be punished for abuse of their parliamentary immunity, from the consequences of wilful lies and slander, he will point the way to enforcement of his proposal against the press."

TIME SAVER

In trials, an experimental model made extremely accurate reproductions, and shortened the time usually required for this work.

What Other Editors Say

SECRET
Our heart goes out to Miss Sandra Martin, who, until a little matter of forgery came between them, was employed as confidential secretary to Mlle. Simone Simon, the film actress. Miss Martin has a secret. She knows the name of the person to whom, on a warm Gallic impulse, Miss Simon gave two golden keys to her home. A Los Angeles judge, however, has ruled that if Miss Martin tells anyone before 1948, she goes to jail for from three to forty-two years. Information of this kind is an almost intolerable thing for a lady to have in her exclusive possession. Not only is an impression of continuous mystery hard on the muscles of the face but a mind thus burdened may easily fall a victim to dangerous repressions. We are not at all sure that Miss Martin wouldn't be happier in jail, where she would be free to share her knowledge with the grateful inmates, than she will at large with the Name forever trembling, a cruel temptation, on the very tip of her eager tongue. Ten years is a long time. We are afraid Miss Martin will be a nervous wreck at the end of it. Either that, or long before her time is up she will just bust.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—How far Mr. Hull's career boys are leaning backward to prevent any aid to Loyalist Spain is indicated by the recent disclosure that they even refused the president of Spain the right to obtain an American car similar to that used by President Roosevelt.

The car is a Chrysler, equipped with thick windshield glass and body containing armor plate capable of withstanding revolver shots, but not rifle bullets. "Attorney General Cummings and J. Edgar Hoover have similar cars, but when the Spanish ambassador some time ago requested that the state department permit the shipment of one to the president of Spain, he got a flat turnaround."

Under President Roosevelt's proclamation imposing an arms embargo against Spain, he bars "military armored vehicles," but says nothing about armored passenger cars. However, Joe Green, in charge of Hull's munitions control board went one step further. He drafted a curfew law informing the ambassador that the car intended to ward off assassin's bullets from the president of Spain could not be shipped.

Since the Spanish government had already paid for it, the car is now gathering dust in a New York storeroom.

In Wrong Corriean

Maybe government officials just naturally lack a sense of humor, but some of them in the bureau of air commerce are still sore about "Wrong Way" Corriean.

What they are particularly sore at is the fact that they licensed his "crate" when he put in super-sized gas tanks. They should have known, they now admit, that no such tanks were needed for domestic flying.

So in the future they are going to refuse licenses to all planes with super-sized tanks unless they are admittedly for flying across the ocean.

Dick Merrill, only man to make two round trip flights across the Atlantic, was recently fined for getting lost in the woods of eastern Pennsylvania while en route to Newark. He had a shipload of passengers, and there was nothing phony about it. He was really "lost."

The contrast is what makes Corriean's clowning all the more amusing.

Idaho Primary
Two things licked Idaho's New Deal senator, Jim Pope:

1. Utility money.

2. Borah votes.

Both factors operated completely sub rosa.

The utility interests poured a barrel of money into Representative Clark's campaign. He has consistently supported their side throughout the house career, so they opened their coffers and went to bat for him in a big way. This was particularly true in the last few days of the contest, when utility money made its appearance in big jobs.

The Borah vote for Clark was a more circuitous matter. The veteran republican senator took no part in the campaign. In fact, he was seriously ill in Washington during part of it. But he made no secret of his sympathy to Pope and approval of Clark.

Whether Borah actually suggested the strategy that republicans go into the democratic primary and vote for Clark has not been definitely established. But that is exactly what Borah's friends did. In a state with less than 80,000 votes, the GOP bloc was enough to turn the scales narrowly for Clark.

Note: Borah's private dislike of Pope dates back to 1934 when the latter, still a rookie senator, made a trip to Europe and voiced some pro-league of nations views. Borah an irreconcilable isolationist, strongly resented Pope's action and never forgave him for it. Besides, Borah is not accustomed to having "another" senator from Idaho.

Four Musketeers
The death of Justice Cardozo reunited a potent New Deal legal team—Corcoran, Cohen, Rowe and Rauh.

Joseph Rauh left the quartet several years ago to become secretary to the late Justice, who employed Rauh on the recommendation of Ben Cohen, Cardozo's closest friend in Washington. Rauh is now back with Cohen on the PWA legal staff.

Tom Corcoran and Jim Rowe, the other two members of the four musketeers, both are one-time secretaries of the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes. Until recently Rowe was an assistant to White House Secretary Jimmy Roosevelt, but now is working with Corcoran.

So the crusading Brain Truststers form a powerful, compact unit once again.

FOREST FIRES OF YORE

To the Editor: Thirty, 40 or 50 years ago we very seldom had a forest fire of any great proportion due to the fact that undergrowth and natural forest debris was burned out every year. Lightning caused some fires, others were set by homesteaders to clear away the undergrowth and provide spring pasture for stock. Pine beetles were unknown; the fire took care of them.

Now, under forest service control, dead limbs and brush are allowed to accumulate, dry out and pile up like a tinder box awaiting the spark.

Now the forest service goes after the poor old porcupine, blaming him for killing timber. I wonder why forest fires and the porcupine didn't destroy all the forests a thousand years ago. There used to be a law in some states against killing porcupine for if a man was lost in the woods without a gun, he could always knock over a porcupine with a club and get meat to live on.

The forest service men are fine and I meet them every year on my deer hunts, but the head of the forest department were not born in the woods, that's obvious.—L.

Attention, Il Duce!

By MARJORIE VAN DE WATER

WASHINGTON.—(Special)—New fascist and anti-Semitic policies are being in harmony with current anthropological knowledge because of the mixed origins of the Italian people. Italians, it has been found, do not belong to any single race, but predominantly they present a picture quite different from the blue-eyed blonds that are the "Nordic" ideal.

Anthropologists inside Germany and Italy have scant sympathy for the pronouncement of the anonymous professors that the people of Italy are pure "Aryan" and the political interpretation that they should be protected from mixing with the Jews.

The word "Aryan" refers not to a single race but to a group of people linked by speaking languages belonging to the same Indo-European family.

A German scholar of the past century, Max Müller, introduced the fallacy of the "Aryan race," but he himself realized the enormity of the error for which he was responsible and did his best to wipe it out.

In 1888 he wrote: "Aryans are those who speak Aryan languages, whatever their color, whatever their blood. In calling them Aryans we predicate nothing of them except that the grammar of their language is Aryan. . . I have declared again and again that if I say Aryan, I mean Aryans, not bones, nor hair, nor skull; I mean simply those who speak an Aryan language. . . To me an ethnologist who speaks of Aryan race, Aryan blood, Aryan eyes and 'hair, is as great a sinner as a linguist who speaks of a dolichocephalic dictionary or a brachycephalic grammar."

The Italians are a mixed people, it is held by such authorities as Dr. A. C. Haddon of the University of Cambridge and Dr. Julian S. Huxley, British Scientist. Their origin can be traced for the most part to the Mediterranean people of which the Semites are one language group. These Mediterranean are a dark people sometimes called the "brown race."

Such blonds as are in Italy are probably Alpine rather than Nordic, anthropologists believe. "Aryans" would now like to be distinguished are also a mixed people, Dr. Haddon says. Probably the Hebrews were originally Semites, but many another branch has been added during the ages of their family tree.

The most outstanding feature of Jewish physiognomy, the nose, is Armenian in origin. Prof. W. M. Krogman of Western Reserve university has found, and the gods and rulers of the ancient Hittites had just such "Jewish" noses and Hittite has recently been found to be an Aryan language.

Day

Day
Philosophy

I am writing this to the man who has failed. And who hasn't at some time or other?

Draft dodger, coward, yellow dog, were the epithets hurled at a husky young man who afterwards became one of the most admired prize fighters this country ever produced, not even excepting John L. Sullivan.

Of course you have guessed his name. There is only one Jack Dempsey, and it is almost a certainty that there will never be another. As a fighting man in his prime, Jack Dempsey was Jack the Invincible. This in spite of the fact that Jim Corbett, Gene Tunney and many others outclassed him as a boxer.

His correct name is William Harrison Dempsey. He was born June 24, 1896, in Manassa, Colo. Therefore he was 22 years old when the United States entered the World War. He did not enlist. The country's war fever, or fever, turned masses of Jack's admirers against him at once. He was white-livered, they said; and their contempt rose in a howl that was heard from coast to coast.

This was the handicap that might have ruined a less thick-skinned man than Dempsey, for crowds do not turn out and give up real money to see a man fight if they believe him to be a coward. After that, Jack battled to win back the respect of the fans as well as to retain the world's championship after he won it by knocking out Jess Willard at Toledo.

Dempsey was a fighter by nature as well as from necessity. Born in poverty, he started life by fighting the whole cruel, merciless world. He always fought to win quickly. That was the only way he could whip many of the enemies he had to conquer or leave alone—and he never was a quitter.

Now here's the point of this story.

A strange thing happened. Jack Dempsey won back the admiration of the fight followers and fans in general, but only after he had lost his crown to Tunney, a clean fighter. Even then he was still somewhat despised until Tunney beat him into a bloody fallen mess in Jack's desperate effort to regain the championship.

Beaten, Dempsey did not stay down. He struggled on and on until at last he became the most popular pug who ever stepped into the ring.

What does all this mean? It means that any good fighter has to lose at least once in the great battle of life and take his loss like a man if he wants to be universally admired. All the same, don't let that notion get you into the habit of losing needlessly. Win as often as you can, but remember that after you have lost, you can still be a winner if you have an indomitable will and refuse to give up.

Here is the quotation from the book plate of Julian Francis Detmer, whose beautiful estate at Tarrytown, N. Y., is one of the show places of New York:

"There never was an evil, but, if rightly understood, might be turned to a good."

Remarkable Remarks

My study of motion picture players has led me to believe that practically everyone who gets into the first ranks of players has added 10 years to his life.

—Dr. Lawrence Spangard, Hollywood hospital staff member, who finds the stars take care of themselves.

Unless religion is streamlined, we must watch it become to unchurched millions of Americans an interesting relic of a more spiritually minded day.

—Dr. Charles J. Turck, of the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education.

If there was any glamor, it was certainly hidden.

Apparently you have a champagne frolic for a wife.

I'LL TELL YOU....

BY BOB BURNS

Many's the time I've done some impulsive thing and thought I was perfectly right in doin' it, but when I'd get home and take my shoes off so's I could really think about it, I've seen that what I'd done wasn't the right thing at all. I suppose everybody's had a similar experience.

I remember one time when Grandpa Snazzy was goin' by Uncle Slug's house and saw him runnin' out of the house with a bunch of dishes flyin' at his head. Grandpa dashed inside just as Aunt Boo was pickin' up the last stack of dishes. Grandpa says, "Good gracious, Aunt Boo, you won't have a dish in the house." Aunt Boo said, "Don't you interfere. I'll teach Slug to crack the handle off my best teapot."
